White Leaders Break Off Cambridge Racial Talks

Wire To Tawes Charges Negro Breach Of Faith

By LUTHER B. MOORE

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—White leaders here abruptly ended late Sunday negotiations toward a settlement of racial problems that have placed this Eastern Shore community under modified martial law. At the same time, they asked Gov. Tawes to keep National Guard troops in Cambridge for an indefinite period.

The statement came after Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray met with the city council, the Dorchester County commissioners and the Dorchester County delegation to the Maryland Legislature.

In a telegram to Gov. Tawes, the group said that "...in view of the breach of faith and the threats of the Negro representatives you (Tawes) invited to meet with us and with us last Friday ... further negotiations with these people are impossible. We are of the strong opinion that the National Guard should be continued on duty here."

Negro Leader Quoted

Philip Savage, an executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had said Saturday that if the racial problems in Cambridge were not resolved by Friday, June 21, "thousands of people will be mobilized in Cambridge. I can bring 10,000 people into this city if necessary."

Tawes had met with white and Negro leaders of Cambridge Friday night, shortly after he ordered the National Guard into the town. He said after the meeting that he felt the groundwork had been laid for fruitful negotiations on the local level.

The governor was not immediately available for comment.

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Non-Violent Action Committee, said she would have no statement to make until Monday, after she had met with the executive board of her group and other Negro leaders. She said the Negroes would continue to obey the curfew imposed by the National Guard on all civilians.

The negotiators met twice Saturday without result, and were to have met again Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mayor Mowbray said, however, that this meeting was off as far as the white leaders were concerned.

A source close to the negotiators said earlier that the Negroes had flatly rejected white demands that all demonstrations be halted for at least a year in exchange for lowering racial barriers in restaurants, hotels, motels and recreational facilities.

Few Guardsmen Patrol Town

It is understood that Negro leaders are demanding full school desegregation and equal hiring practices as well as the opening of places of public accommodation before making any promises as to further demonstrations.

Only a handful of National Guardsmen patrolled the streets Sunday in the wake of racial violence last week that led Gov. Tawes to order the guard into town.

The usual Sunday churchgoers streamed from houses of worship into the hot, muggy streets under overcast skies. Later, Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Washington, D.C., stopped here briefly to confer with the town's Methodist clergy on the racial problems. Most of the 375 guardsmen ordered to duty in this Eastern Shore community of 12,600 could be seen in their bivouac area around the Dorchester Junior High School. The troops, part of the 2nd Battalion, 115th Infantry, set up a pup-tent city on the high school grounds Saturday night.

Three Boys Swept Away By Deluge

By The Associated Press

A flash flood that roared into a camping area of northeastern Utah swept three small boys away Sunday. In Wyoming, crews battled to save the earthen dam protecting the threatened town of Lander.

Heavy rains and thunderstorms that triggered floods in parts of the Rockies tapered off Sunday, but more isolated thunderstorms drifted over mountainous areas of Montana, Idaho and Utah.

The fate of the boys swirled away by the flood wasn't immediately ascertained.

The Utah flood caught a family of campers unawares in the Unita National Forest. The campers were bedded down near the Duchesne River when the water swept through the campsite without warning.

The wall of water swept down out of the high Unita mountains carrying boulders, logs and other debris.

The youngsters were swept away still in their beds.

The Forest Service ranger station at Stockmore was badly damaged. Authorities urged persons along the river downstream to move to higher ground.

Men working with heavy equipment appeared to be winning the struggle to save the Lander dam, overtaxed by heavy rain. The dam is 30 miles south of the city of 7,000 population on the Pope Agie River.

Doctors Report Hoover Illness 'Very Serious'

NEW YORK (AP)—The condition of former President Herbert Hoover "remains very serious" and "his heart action is somewhat irregular and he has a low-grade fever," his physicians reported Sunday.

The family of the 88-year-old former president announced last Friday that he had become seriously ill a week before in his suite at the Waldorf Towers in Manhattan. He was described as suffering from "anemia, secondary to bleeding from the gastro-intestinal tract."

Sunday's bulletin also said "there has been no evidence of further gastro-intestinal tract bleeding in the past 36 hours."

"He is in no pain and is resting quietly," it said.

The bulletin was signed by Dr. Ralph H. Boots, Dr. Rudolph N. Schullinger and Dr. Fordyce B. St. John.

To date, there have been no plans to remove the nation's 81st president to a hospital. The only visitors allowed have been Hoover's sons, Allan and Herbert Jr. His wife died in 1944.

Last Aug. 28, Hoover underwent a three-hour operation at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for removal of a tumor from his large intestine. The tumor was described as cancerous with "no recurrence anticipated." He was released from the hospital Sept. 18.

Light Signals Supplement Pope Voting Smoke Puffs

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials said Sunday an electric light signaling system will supplement the traditional puffs of smoke to tell the world a new Pope has been elected.

The system will be installed, the officials said, by the time the cardinals gather Wednesday in a conclave of Pope John XXIII. The time the Vatican has taken careful precautions to avoid the confusion which accompanied Pope John's election four years and seven months ago.

The system of supplementary light signals was reported under study earlier this month but Vatican spokesmen said the plan then had been rejected. Apparently, on second thought Vati-

2 Of 3 Jackson Churches Bar Negro Groups

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Four young Negro women walked quietly into a white church in racially-tense Jackson Sunday and remained through the service. But at two other houses of worship in the city Negroes were turned away.

The four, who entered St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, were the first to be admitted to a white Protestant church since Negro demonstrations began in Jackson last month.

The two Methodist and two Baptist churches declined to let small groups of Negroes attend services.

Meanwhile, the body of Medgar Evers, carried in a white hearse, was taken 100 miles east to Meridian and placed aboard a train. He will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C., on Wednesday.

Evers, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was assassinated by rifle fire outside his home early Wednesday.

The killing, and an emotion-packed funeral service Saturday, spread fear and tension throughout Jackson. Twenty-seven persons were arrested and 14 policemen hurt in a bottle and brick-throwing disturbance that erupted after a mourning parade.

Officials of the NAACP declined to say what further demonstrations were being planned Monday.

The four Negro women who entered St. Andrew's came in couples. The two pairs arrived separately. They were neatly dressed in short summer frocks, wore white gloves and carried bibles.

They sat down in a rear row. There was no roped-off section, contrary to first reports.

Few of the members of the congregation appeared to have noticed them until the service was over. Then, some eyebrows were raised. A parishioner, who described himself as a long-time member told a policeman, "I don't go along with this."

Negroes were refused entry at Central Presbyterian Church and at First Presbyterian Church.

At the latter, two young women made the unsuccessful attempt. Two young Negro men went to Central Presbyterian.

University Prank Ends In Tragedy; Student Drowns

OXFORD, England (UPI)—A college prank turned to tragedy Saturday night.

Oxford University students elected Paul Layland debating society president and then threw him into the River Cherwell to celebrate. Layland drowned.

Society members said custom called for ducking the outgoing president but that they thought it would be a good idea to have in Layland too.

They said they did not realize Layland, 23, could not swim until they saw him sink. Pulled to the bank, Layland could not be revived.

Friends said Layland took the pre-dunking ceremony well. They said he even removed some of his clothes and his watch to prepare for the dunking.

RESIGNS — Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion (above) has resigned for personal reasons, according to a government communique from Jerusalem yesterday. Ben-Gurion Hands In His Resignation

Dominant Figure In Israel Quits For Personal Reasons

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, most dominant figure in Israel's 15 years as a nation, resigned Sunday for personal reasons, the government announced.

A communique at the end of a cabinet meeting said Ben-Gurion's reasons for quitting were "not connected with any state problem or event." Even cabinet ministers were reported kept in the dark. One source said that when the cabinet pressed Ben-Gurion for the reasons he replied: "I am keeping them to myself."

But speculation spread that the 87-year-old leader had resigned because of criticism in Parliament over his handling of a security cabinet involving the use by the United Arab Republic of German scientists to build nuclear rockets for Egyptian armed forces.

Security Chief Resigned

An Israeli security chief, who never was identified, resigned last March because of differences with Ben-Gurion. In April, opposition parties demanded an open debate on the issue but Ben-Gurion's Mapai party averted it. The opposition demanded a fuller explanation for the security chief's resignation.

There was speculation that a trial of two Israeli agents in Basel, Switzerland, last week had vindicated the security chief and led Ben-Gurion to resign.

At the trial the two men, accused of threatening a relative of a German scientist in Egypt, testified that Egyptian factories were turning out nuclear rockets with heavy radioactive fallout capabilities to seriously threaten Israel.

Has Resigned Before

Ben-Gurion has resigned before while under heavy fire but came back to the leadership after remaining on in a caretaker capacity in the interim. In January 1961 he quit in a controversy about Pinhas Lavon, then defense minister. Full details of the dispute were never disclosed, but reports said that he involved around policy toward Egypt and a security leak.

Ben-Gurion has been prime minister since 1948, except for a respite in 1954 because of what he called "spiritual fatigue." Moshe Sharett took his place and is the only other person to serve as prime minister of Israel.

SEATO Games Held Near War

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The 25,000-man SEATO army battled a mock aggressor force in Northeast Thailand Sunday amid reports of a fresh outbreak of real fighting in next-door Laos.

Dispatches from the Laotian capital of Vientiane said pro-Communist forces, backed by North Vietnamese, were on the move near the Mekong River border with Thailand.

One report said pro-Red Pathet Lao troops had captured the town of Thai Thom, 42 miles from the Thai border.

The reported action in Laos appeared to be coming perilously close to the current SEATO war games, biggest ever staged by the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The SEATO plot of the exercise pits the SEATO army against Red aggressors who have swept into Thailand from the north. The Communist forces, according to script, earlier had crossed into "Country A" — after a Red uprising there had been crushed, then moved against "Country B" — Thailand.

Three Attempting To Flee Haiti Slain

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Border guards of Haitian strongman Francois Duvalier shot and killed two men and a woman who tried to flee to the Dominican Republic Friday, it was reported Sunday.

The border has been sealed to prevent the flight of refugees and houses along a one-mile-wide border have been burned on the Haitian side to prevent the harboring of refugees.

Haitian authorities have reportedly warned that all attempting to cross the border will be shot.

Space Lady

Valentina Tereshkova, 26, an ex-tire factory worker, became the world's first female space pilot when the Russians launched her into orbit around the earth yesterday. Unofficial reports in Moscow said she will attempt a rendezvous with cosmonaut Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, who rocketed up Friday. The Tass news agency said the purpose of sending a woman into space was to make a comparative analysis of space flight factors on a man and woman. (AP Photofax via cable from Moscow)

'Mac' Confident He Can Weather Scandal Storm

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan returned to London Sunday night, appearing confident he can ride out Monday's parliamentary storm over his handling of the government sex scandal.

Aides said he was in buoyant spirits and finding exhilaration in facing the challenge of the debate in Parliament.

It appeared he had rallied his entire cabinet and most of the party to meet the intense criticism of the opposition Labor party.

Political sources said he did so by threatening that if he failed to get the vote he wants at the end of the debate he would advise Queen Elizabeth II to dissolve Parliament and call for a national election. Current public opinion polls indicate that the Conservative party would be beaten if there were an election now.

These sources said Macmillan also indicated that if the rebellious party members fell into line he probably would resign as party leader by fall to make way for a younger man.

War Minister John Profumo resigned last week after admitting that he had lied to Macmillan, his colleagues and Parliament when he told them in March that there was nothing improper in his relationship with party girl Christine Keeler, 21.

During Profumo's denial with Miss Keeler in 1961 she was also having an affair with Capt. Yevgeny Ivanov, an assistant naval attaché at the Soviet embassy.

The Soviet Union denied Sunday that Ivanov was mixed up in the affair. The news agency Tass said it was authorized to call allegations against Ivanov "malicious inventions" apparently linked to the British domestic political battle. It was the first Soviet comment on Ivanov, who was recalled to Russia some time ago.

Would-Be U.S. Women Astronauts Disappointed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials and members of Congress expressed little surprise or concern Sunday that Russia has beaten the United States in rocketing the first woman into orbit. But women who want to join America's space fliers expressed deep disappointment.

"It's a shame that since we are eventually going to put a woman into space, we didn't go ahead and do it first," said Jerri Cobb of Oklahoma City.

Miss Cobb, a pilot holding four world airplane speed and distance records, was the first of 13 women who some time ago passed physical tests comparable to those for male astronauts. She has long advocated using women in U.S. space flights.

She was joined in protest by Mrs. Philip Hart, wife of the Michigan senator, who also has objected to the refusal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to include women in space flight plans.

NASA, she said, would probably continue its "wait-and-see" attitude toward recruiting women astronauts "even if the Russians landed the whole Leningrad Symphony Orchestra on the moon and returned it."

However, O. B. Lloyd Jr., NASA spokesman, said the United States has no current plans for putting a woman into space, saying "there is nothing in the criteria" for selecting the next astronauts that would include women. He said this prospect is "way down the road."

Sen. Maurice B. Neuberger, D-Ore., called the Russian accomplishment "perfectly marvelous."

Space Pair May Attempt Rendezvous

Moscow Reports Cosmonette's Ship Near Bykovsky's

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union sent a dark-eyed young blonde named Valentina into space Sunday as the world's first woman cosmonaut. The Russians said her Vostok VI space ship went into orbit close to Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, who rocketed up Friday.

Unofficial reports in Moscow said the pair will attempt a manually controlled rendezvous with the use of auxiliary rockets. It was possible they will try a linkup of their spaceships.

The world's first woman space pilot is a 26-year-old former factory worker, Valentina Tereshkova, whose sideline of parachuting qualified her for cosmonaut training.

A Soviet announcement said she went into orbit at 12:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m., EST) and half an hour later was in radio contact with Bykovsky. Together they then messaged Premier Khrushchev.

"Dependable radio communications have been established between our space ships. Are at close distance from each other. All systems in the ships are working excellently. Feeling fine."

There was no indication whether the two could see each other. Official announcements made no mention of how long Miss Tereshkova and Bykovsky will remain in orbit. But unofficial reports said they will land in short intervals of each other within two days.

Soviet scientists performed a similar feat last August when they launched the space twins, Pavel Popovich and Andrian Nikolayev. Nikolayev, who stayed in orbit four days, went up Aug. 11 and Popovich the following day.

In their flight, they reported they saw each other at once and sang a duet. Both came down Aug. 15 after Nikolayev orbited 64 times and Popovich 48 times.

The Tass news agency said the purpose of sending a woman into space was to make a comparative analysis of space flight factors on a man and a woman.

Miss Tereshkova reported she was feeling fine. She promptly stole the show from Bykovsky in Vostok V.

The announcement of her flight sent Russians in Moscow into jubilation. Live pictures of her in her space ship flickered on Russian television sets. Her excited, high-pitched voice crackled over the air waves.

"Seagull" and "Hawk" "This is Seagull, this is Seagull," she said as she began each transmission. Russian cosmonauts take the names of birds as their call signs in space. Bykovsky calls himself "Hawk."

Bykovsky, 28, father of a 3-month-old son, was in his 32nd orbit when Miss Tereshkova blasted off.

Television pictures showed Miss Tereshkova appeared to be overjoyed.

Strapped to her flight couch, she was seen speaking into a microphone attached to her helmet. She smiled frequently.

Apparently aware that she was being watched by television viewers all over the Soviet Union and the satellite nations via the Soviet bloc television network, she waved greetings at the camera.

At one point, she followed with her dark eyes a pencil drifting before her in the weightless world of space.

Racial Conflict Reduces Odds Against Cloture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Widespread racial disorders have increased substantially the possibility that the Senate might curtail filibustering debate and pass a civil rights bill this year.

An Associated Press survey showed Sunday a marked shift of opinion among senators since the last significant vote on the issue on May 9, 1962. But it remained obvious that an effort to cut off talk by mustering the necessary two-thirds approval of those voting would encounter stiff resistance.

A year ago the Senate voted 53-43 against a motion to invoke cloture — debate limitation. This failure to get even a majority, while two-thirds were needed, left a Southern filibuster alive.

The action killed a bill to limit literacy tests as a voting qualification. President Kennedy again has recommended this measure to Congress and it is expected to be included in the administration's civil rights package to be sent to Congress this week.

To record any change in opinion, senators outside the group of Southerners who already have threatened a filibuster, were asked if they would support cloture on any bill they believe would be helpful in preventing further disorders.

Ten senators who voted against cloture last year, or whose predecessors did, indicated in the canvass they now are willing to vote to shut off debate to obtain passage of any measure they feel would help prevent further racial violence.

The 10 include four Republicans, Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont, John Sherman Cooper and Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, and Jack Miller of Iowa. The six Democrats are Sens. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Gale W. McGee of Wyoming, Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire, George S. McGovern of South Dakota, and Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Eight senators who opposed cloture in 1962, or whose predecessors did, indicated that while they ordinarily would be against limiting debate, circumstances might arise under which they would feel they ought to vote to limit debate.

Republicans in this group include Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming, and Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa.

Democrats in this category are E. L. Bartlett of Alaska, Daniel B. Brewster of Maryland, Carl Hayden of Arizona and Ralph Yarborough of Texas.

Russ Feat Applauded By NASA Personnel

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Space agency personnel had no official comment on the orbital flight of a Russian woman Sunday. But privately they applauded another Soviet space achievement.

Most of those contacted felt that the woman cosmonaut, Valentina Tereshkova, would try to hook up her Vostok VI spacecraft with the Vostok V vehicle which Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky rode into orbit Friday.

Several of this nation's astronauts were here for a party honoring L. Gordon Cooper Jr.'s 34-hour flight last month but they withheld any comment on the Soviet Union's latest twin flight.

Ben-Gurion Hands In His Resignation

Dominant Figure In Israel Quits For Personal Reasons

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, most dominant figure in Israel's 15 years as a nation, resigned Sunday for personal reasons, the government announced.

A communique at the end of a cabinet meeting said Ben-Gurion's reasons for quitting were "not connected with any state problem or event." Even cabinet ministers were reported kept in the dark. In January 1961 he quit in a controversy about Pinhas Lavon, then defense minister. Full details of the reports were never disclosed, but reports said that it revolved around policy toward Egypt and a security leak.

Ben-Gurion has been prime minister since 1948, except for a respite in 1954 because of what he called "spiritual fatigue." Moshe Sharett took his place and is the only other person to serve as prime minister of Israel.

SEATO Games Held Near War

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The 25,000-man SEATO army battled a mock aggressor force in North-east Thailand Sunday amid reports of a fresh outbreak of real fighting in next-door Laos.

Disputes from the Laotian capital of Vientiane said pro-Communist forces, backed by North Vietnamese, were on the move near the Mekong River border with Thailand.

One report said pro-Red Pathet Lao troops had captured the town of Tha Thom, 42 miles from the Thai border.

The reported action in Laos appeared to be coming perilously close to the current SEATO war games, biggest ever staged by the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The basic plot of the exercise pits the SEATO army against Red aggressors who have swept into Thailand from the north. The Communist forces, according to script, earlier had crossed into "Country A" — after a Red uprising there had been crushed, then moved against "Country B" — Thailand.

Three Attempting To Flee Haiti Slain

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Border guards of Haitian straggled Francois Duvalier shot and killed two men and a woman who tried to flee to the Dominican Republic Friday, it was reported Sunday.

The border has been sealed to prevent the flight of refugees and houses along a one-mile-wide border strip have been burned on the Haitian side to prevent the harboring of refugees.

Haitian authorities have reportedly warned that all attempting to cross the border will be shot.

Space Lady

Valentina Tereshkova, 26, an ex-tire factory worker, became the world's first female space pilot when the Russians launched her into orbit around the earth yesterday. Unofficial reports in Moscow said she will attempt a rendezvous with cosmonaut Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, who rocketed up Friday. The Tass news agency said the purpose of sending a woman into space was to make a comparative analysis of space flight factors on a man and woman. (AP Photofax via cable from Moscow)

'Mac' Confident He Can Weather Scandal Storm

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan returned to London Sunday night, appearing confident he can ride out Monday's parliamentary storm over his handling of the government sex scandal.

Aides said he was in buoyant spirits and finding exhilaration in facing the challenge of the debate in Parliament.

It appeared he had rallied his entire cabinet and most of the party to meet the intense criticism of the opposition Labor party.

Political sources said he did so by threatening that if he failed to get the vote he wants at the end of the debate he would advise Queen Elizabeth II to dissolve Parliament and call for a national election. Current public opinion polls indicate that the Conservative party would be beaten if there were an election now.

These sources said Macmillan also indicated that if the rebellious party members fell into line he probably would resign as party leader by fall to make way for a younger man.

War Minister John Profumo was reported last week after admitting that he had lied to Macmillan, his colleagues and Parliament when he told them in March that there was nothing improper in his relationship with party girl Christine Keeler, 21.

During Profumo's dalliance with Miss Keeler in 1961 she was also having an affair with Capt. Yevgeny Ivanov, an assistant naval attaché at the Soviet embassy.

The Soviet Union denied Sunday that Ivanov was mixed up in the affair. The news agency Tass said it was authorized to call allegations against Ivanov "malicious inventions" apparently linked to the British domestic political climate. It was the first Soviet comment on Ivanov, who was recalled to Russia some time ago.

Would-Be U.S. Women Astronauts Disappointed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials and members of Congress expressed little surprise Sunday that Russia has beaten the United States in rocketing the first woman into earth orbit. But women who want to join America's space fliers expressed disappointment.

"It's a shame that since we are eventually going to put a woman into space, we didn't go ahead and do it first," said Jerri Cobb of Oklahoma City.

Miss Cobb, a pilot holding four world airplane speed and distance records, was the first of 13 women who some time ago passed physical tests comparable to those for male astronauts. She has long advocated using women in U.S. space flights.

She was joined in protest by Mrs. Philip Hart, wife of the

Space Pair May Attempt Rendezvous

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union sent a dark-eyed young blonde named Valentina into space Sunday as the world's first woman cosmonaut. The Russians said her Vostok VI space ship went into orbit close to Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, who rocketed up Friday.

Unofficial reports in Moscow said the pair will attempt a manually controlled rendezvous with the use of auxiliary rockets. It was possible they will try a linkup of their spaceships.

The world's first woman space pilot is a 26-year-old former factory worker, Valentina Tereshkova, whose sideline of parachuting qualified her for cosmonaut training.

A Soviet announcement said she went into orbit at 12:30 p.m. (4:30 a.m., EST) and half an hour later was in radio contact with Bykovsky. Together they then messaged Premier Khrushchev.

Dependable radio communications have been established between our space ships. Are at close distance from each other. All systems in the ships are working excellently. Feeling fine."

Flight Length Not Mentioned

There was no indication whether the two could see each other. Official announcements made no mention of how long Miss Tereshkova and Bykovsky will remain in orbit. But unofficial reports said they will land in short intervals of each other within two days.

Soviet scientists performed a similar feat last August when they launched the space twins, Pavel Popovich and Andrian Nikolayev, who stayed in orbit four days, the following day. In their flight, they reported they saw each other at once and sang a duet. Both came down Aug. 15 after Nikolayev orbited 64 times and Popovich 48 times.

The Tass news agency said the purpose of sending a woman into space was to make a comparative analysis of space flight factors on a man and a woman.

Miss Tereshkova reported she was feeling fine. She promptly stole the show from Bykovsky in a Vostok V.

"Seagull" And "Hawk"
"This is Seagull, this is Seagull," she said as she began each transmission. Russian cosmonauts take the names of birds as their call signs in space. Bykovsky calls himself "Hawk."

Bykovsky, 28, father of a 3-month-old son, was in his 32nd orbit when Miss Tereshkova blasted off.

Television pictures showed Miss Tereshkova appeared to be overjoyed.

Strapped to her flight couch, she was seen speaking into a microphone attached to her helmet. She smiled frequently.

Apparently aware that she was being watched by television viewers all over the Soviet Union and the satellite nations via the Soviet black television network, she waved greetings at the camera.

At one point, she followed with her dark eyes a pencil drifting before her in the weightless world of space.

Washington Mobilizes To Fend Off Race Strife

EDITOR'S NOTE—Warnings have been sounded about a possible racial upheaval in Washington, D. C. Both Negro and governmental officials are hard at work to ease conditions for Negroes in the nation's capital—the only city in the United States with a Negro majority. What is the situation in Washington, the nation's showcase to the world? The following article by veteran AP Washington correspondent Sterling Green spotlights the picture of a city in trouble.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Storm warnings of racial strife are flying in the nation's capital. The signals have been sighted.

This loosely governed seat of government, the only city in the country with a Negro population majority, is closing ranks to fend off looming disaster—an upsurge of crime and a possible outbreak of racial conflict.

Civic forces are being mobilized, belatedly, against some basic problems — poverty, unemployment and delinquency, chiefly among the overcrowded Negro citizens whose numbers increase day by day with the arrival of impoverished migrants from the South.

The beginnings are promising enough to prompt Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to modify his year-old warning that Washington is "a real time bomb."

"Washington's situation is serious, but I think it is controllable," Kennedy told the Associated Press.

"If matters were to keep on growing worse each year, as they have been, we would surely end up in trouble. A lot depends on what we do from now on. I think we're going to reverse it."

The capital's biggest race demonstration since the end of World War I, when the Ku Klux Klan marched on Pennsylvania Avenue, was staged last Friday without violence or disorder, and with only one arrest—a motorist who failed to move out of the way of the Negro protest marchers.

Many of the 3,000 peaceful protest marchers were white—in portions of the crowd, at least one fourth of them. All ignored the taunting signs of a few American Nazi party counter-pickets — "Race mixing stinks" and "White men—fight!"

When it was over the marchers had won a prize—the promise of the Board of D.C. Commissioners that if Congress doesn't outlaw housing discrimination in Washington by the end of this session, the board will do so by a city ordinance.

But any Washingtonian can see civic danger signals:

Each day more than a dozen muggings, robberies, purse snatchings and assaults, 15 larcenies and auto thefts, 18 burglaries and a high incidence of murders and rapes.

Still, the city's defenders can point to federal statistics to show Washington ranks only 13th among major cities in its over-all crime rate.

And there has been no discernible pattern of racial motivation in crime—about 80 per cent of the victims of Negro criminals are other Negroes.

But Negroes do contribute to the city's crime out of proportion to their 57 per cent of the city's population.

They came into a majority position during the past decade when an estimated total of 213,000 whites, about one-fourth of the population, emigrated to the suburbs in Virginia and Maryland, leaving the long-integrated schools 83 per cent Negro and plagued by breakdowns in discipline.

A jarring report by a biracial investigating commission on a high school football game riot which injured 400 last Thanksgiving, it was a "serious racial conflict," the reports said. "Fear rages through many school buildings."

And, last month, warnings from two Negro congressmen, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., D-N.Y., and Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., that the violence of Birmingham, Jackson and Greensboro could break upon the gleaming city by the Potomac.

If job and housing discriminations are not quickly remedied, Powell said, Washington faces "one of the worst race riots in the history of America."

A racial explosion in the capital of democracy would reverberate around the world, blemishing American prestige in every free nation—and particularly in the new countries where black men's dreams of independence are coming true.

Neither federal nor city authorities think it will happen. Washington's "mayor," Commissioner Walter N. Tobriner, rejects the idea that racial violence is brewing but takes the gravest view of the visible strains on morals and morale.

"The hazard is no greater here than in any Northern city which absorbs an influx of underprivileged Negroes," Tobriner told an interviewer.

He is president of the presidentially-appointed Board of D.C. Commissioners. One of his two colleagues is a Negro. The reins of municipal authority actually are held by the House Committee for the District of Columbia—which includes two Negro and nine Southern white members—and the corresponding Senate committee.

All the great religions of the world are believed to have originated in Asia.

China To Insist Khrush Scrap 'Peace' Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Assailing Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, Communist China announced Sunday it will insist in Moscow talks that the Kremlin accept the principle of violent Communist revolution to overthrow capitalism.

Peking also criticized the Soviet Union, as well as Britain, for its handling of the Laotian crisis. It declared that American attempts to have Moscow "use its restraining influence" on the Pao-Lao, Red China and Communist North Viet Nam "are doomed to failure."

Red China set forth its conditions for a settlement of Peking-Moscow differences in a letter from the Chinese Communist party to the Soviet party. The letter, dated Saturday, was distributed by Peking's official New China News Agency.

The Chinese Communists expressed hope that the Moscow talks, set to open July 5, will "yield positive results and contribute to the preparations for convening the meeting of all Communist and workers parties."

But the Chinese raised conditions that struck at the heart of Khrushchev's professed policy that capitalism will fall through its own faults in peaceful competition with what he calls the superior Communist system.

"In the last analysis," Peking declared, "it is a question of whether or not to accept . . . the fact that the people still living under the imperialist and capitalist system . . . need to make revolution."

Peking said international communism would "depart from the revolutionary teachings of Marxism-Leninism" if it were "one-sidedly reduced to peaceful coexistence, peaceful competition and peaceful transition."

Two Killed In Md. Traffic Accidents

By The Associated Press
Two men died in Maryland traffic accidents early Sunday, one of them in a freak accident at a Baltimore intersection.

The deaths raise the Maryland highway death toll to 251, compared with 229 at this time last year.

The Baltimore victim was identified as Sam Bracy, 52. Police said he was clinging to the side of a car in an argument with the driver, Robert Johnson, 38, also of Baltimore, when the car crashed into another vehicle at the intersection. Bracy was dead on arrival at Provident Hospital.

The other victim was Joseph A. Sullivan, 28, of Mechanicsville. Police said Sullivan was standing beside his disabled car in the dark on Maryland 5, about half a mile north of Hughesville in Charles County. A car swerved to avoid hitting Sullivan's car but struck Sullivan, police said.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin was to speak at a memorial tribute Sunday to Medgar Evers.

Evers, a field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot fatally in the back from ambush Wednesday in Jackson, Miss. The Baltimore chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality announced Saturday that McKeldin would be a speaker at memorial services for Evers held in Baltimore's War Memorial Plaza, opposite City Hall.

BALTIMORE (AP) — T. H. Sherlock, public relations director of the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield health plans, says the response to a new program covering senior citizens has been so heavy, extra help has been called in to help in the enrollment department.

"On June 10, the first day of the enrollment period, there were people waiting in our lobby in the morning to sign up," Sherlock said. The new program permits Marylanders 65 and over to enroll in the hospitalization plan regardless of their health. The enrollment period is from June 10 to June 30, and no statement of health is required.

WASHINGTON (AP) — William E. Brown, 47 of Washington drowned in the Anacostia River Saturday after falling into the water while stepping from a cabin cruiser to a dock.

Harbort police said Brown, a filling station owner, was visiting Kenneth E. White, owner of the cruiser. He stumbled as he stepped to the dock and fell into 12 feet of water.

ROCKVILLE, Md., (AP) — Five organizations have requested the Montgomery County Council to reverse its previous action and reinstate funds for 200 additional teaching positions this fall.

Joining in the request were the Committee for Public Schools, the American Association of University Women, the Montgomery County Civic Federation, the Montgomery County League of Women Voters and the County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

The Rev. Marion C. Bascom, spokesman for the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, said Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin had advised him late Saturday night that the contractor on the school project had agreed to hire three Negro carpenters, a Negro apprentice electrician and a Negro apprentice plumber.

The school project was the last stumbling block to final agreement on over-all hiring practices on city jobs.

The air near the ground always has less velocity than the air a few hundred feet up, due to the surface friction of the earth.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas attacked Sunday the lack of contact between the United States and Communist China, and also said he felt too much emphasis was being placed on the military portion of the foreign aid program.

Speaking at commencement exercises at Goucher College, Douglas said: "The Chinese constitute today one fourth of the people of the world. Can we pretend much longer that they do not exist?"

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trailer type tank truck loaded with 7,700 gallons of gasoline partially overturned and ignited Sunday, causing a spectacular fire near the busy Washington-Baltimore Parkway.

No one was seriously injured. The blaze was on New York Avenue as it enters the parkway. The truck driver, Luther E. Addair, 26, of Alexandria, Va., told police that the left front tire on his truck blew out, causing him to lose control. The truck swerved, jackknifed and partially overturned.

Addair said the left front side of the truck burst into flames but that he was able to escape uninjured except for a cut on his face.

Later in the day, police found a man in Harlem Square in West Baltimore with a superficial gunshot wound in the abdomen. He was treated and released at Franklin Square Hospital and held by police for questioning. Police said other suspects were being held also.

Nolan was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital in good condition.

Pact Heads Off Demonstration

BALTIMORE (AP) — Agreement was reached late Saturday night on hiring practices of contractors working on municipal projects, thereby averting a mass demonstration Monday at the site of a public school being built in south Baltimore.

The Rev. Marion C. Bascom, spokesman for the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, said Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin had advised him late Saturday night that the contractor on the school project had agreed to hire three Negro carpenters, a Negro apprentice electrician and a Negro apprentice plumber.

Washington Mobilizes To Fend Off Race Strife

EDITOR'S NOTE—Warnings have been sounded about a possible racial upheaval in Washington, D. C. Both Negro and governmental officials are hard at work to ease conditions for Negroes in the nation's capital—the only city in the United States with a Negro majority. What is the situation in Washington, the nation's showcase to the world? The following article by veteran AP Washington correspondent Sterling Green spotlights the picture of a city in trouble.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Storm warnings of racial strife are flying in the nation's capital. The signals have been sighted.

This loosely governed seat of government, the only city in the country with a Negro population majority, is closing ranks to fend off looming disaster—an outbreak of crime and a possible upsurge of racial conflict.

Civic forces are being mobilized, belatedly, against some basic problems — poverty, unemployment and overcrowding, chiefly among the delinquent Negro citizens whose numbers increase day by day with the arrival of impoverished migrants from the South.

The beginnings are promising enough to prompt Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to modify his year-old warning that Washington is "a real time bomb."

"If matters were to keep on growing worse each year, as they have been, we would surely end up in trouble. A lot depends on what we do from now on. I think we're going to reverse it."

The capital's biggest race demonstration since the end of World War I, when the Ku Klux Klan marched on Pennsylvania Avenue, was staged last Friday without violence or disorder, and with only one arrest—a motorist who failed to move out of the way of the Negro protest marchers.

Many of the 3,000 peaceful protest marchers were white—in portions of the crowd, at least one fourth of them. All ignored the taunting signs of a few American Nazi party counter-pickets.

"Race mixing stinks" and "White men—fight!"

When it was over the marchers had won a prize—the promise of the Board of D.C. Commissioners that if Congress doesn't outlaw housing discrimination in Washington by the end of this session, the board will do so by a city ordinance.

But any Washingtonian can see civic danger signals:

Still, the city's defenders can point to federal statistics to show Washington ranks only 13th among major cities in its over-all crime rate.

And there has been no discernible pattern of racial motivation in crime—about 80 per cent of the victims of Negro criminals are other Negroes.

But Negroes do contribute to the city's crime out of proportion to their 57 per cent of the city's population.

They came into a majority position during the past decade when an estimated total of 213,000 whites, about one-fourth of the population, emigrated to the suburbs in Virginia and Maryland, leaving the long-integrated schools 83 per cent Negro and plagued by breakdowns in discipline.

A jarring break by a biracial investigating commission on a high school football game riot which injured 400 last Thanksgiving; it was a "serious racial conflict," the reports said. "Fear rages through many school buildings."

And, last month, warnings from two Negro congressmen, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., D-N.Y., and Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., that the violence of Birmingham, Jackson and Greensboro could break up on the gleaming city by the Potomac.

If job and housing discriminations are not quickly remedied, Powell said, Washington faces "one of the worst race riots in the history of America."

A racial explosion in the capital of democracy would reverberate around the world, blighting American and prestige in every free nation—and particularly in the new countries where black men's dreams of independence are coming true.

Neither federal nor city authorities think it will happen. Washington's "mayor," Commissioner Walter N. Tobin, rejects the idea that racial violence is brewing but takes the gravest view of the visible strains on morals and morale.

"The hazard is no greater here than in any Northern city which absorbs an influx of underprivileged Negroes," Tobin told an interviewer.

He is president of the presidentially-appointed Board of D.C. Commissioners. One of his two colleagues is a Negro. The reins are held by the House Committee for the District of Columbia—which includes two Negro and nine Southern white members—and the corresponding Senate committee.

All the great religions of the world are believed to have originated in Asia.

China To Insist Khrush Scrap 'Peace' Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Assailing Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, Communist China announced Sunday that it will insist in Moscow talks that the Kremlin accept the principle of violent Communist revolution to overthrow capitalism.

Peking also criticized the Soviet Union, as well as Britain, for its handling of the Laotian crisis. It declared that American attempts to have Moscow "use its restraining influence" on the Peking-Lao, Red China and Communist North Viet Nam "are doomed to failure."

Red China set forth its conditions for a settlement of Peking-Moscow differences in a letter from the Chinese Communist party to the Soviet party. The letter, dated Saturday, was distributed by Peking's official New China News Agency.

The Chinese Communists expressed hope that the Moscow talks, set to open July 5, will "yield positive results and contribute to the preparations for convening the meeting of all Communist and workers parties."

But the Chinese raised conditions that struck at the heart of Khrushchev's professed policy that capitalism will fall through its own faults in peaceful competition with what he calls the superior Communist system.

Peking said the revolutionary teachings of Marxism-Leninism "if it were 'sidedly reduced to peaceful coexistence, peaceful competition and peaceful transition.'"

Two Killed In Md. Traffic Accidents

By The Associated Press

Two men died in Maryland traffic accidents early Sunday, one of them in a freak accident at a Baltimore intersection.

The deaths raise the Maryland highway death toll to 251, compared with 229 at this time last year.

The Baltimore victim was identified as Sam Bracy, 52. Police said he was clinging to the side of a car in an argument with the driver, Robert Johnson, 38, also of Baltimore, when the car crashed into another vehicle at the intersection. Bracy was dead on arrival at Provident Hospital.

The other victim was Joseph A. Sullivan, 28, of Mechanicsville. Police said Sullivan was standing beside his disabled car in the dark on Maryland 5, about half a mile north of Hughesville in Charles County. A car swerved to avoid hitting Sullivan's car but struck Sullivan, police said.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin was to speak at a memorial tribute Sunday to Medgar Evers.

Evers, a field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot fatally in the back from ambush Wednesday in Jackson, Miss. The Baltimore chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality announced Saturday that McKeldin would be a speaker at memorial services for Evers held in Baltimore's War Memorial Plaza, opposite City Hall.

BALTIMORE (AP) — T. H. Sherlock, public relations director of the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield health plans, says the response to a new program covering senior citizens has been so heavy, extra help has been called in to help in the enrollment department.

"On June 10, the first day of the enrollment period, there were people waiting in our lobby in the morning to sign up," Sherlock said. The new program permits Marylanders 65 and over to enroll in the hospitalization plan regardless of their health. The enrollment period is from June 10 to June 30, and no statement of health is required.

Suspects Held In Cop Shooting Gas Tanker Truck Overturns, Ignites

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police questioned a wounded man and other suspects Sunday in connection with the shooting of a 29-year-old patrolman in East Baltimore early this morning.

Police said Patrolman John Nolan was driving to his post in his private car shortly after midnight when he saw three Negroes in a car similar to one used in a liquor store holdup Saturday.

Nolan chased the car for about a mile to a closed filling station, police said, where two of the men jumped out of the car with pistols. One man fired, hitting Nolan in the shoulder. Then the third man fled.

Nolan emptied his service pistol at the trio and said two of the men burst to escape unharmed except for a cut on his face.

Later in the day, police found a man in Harlem Square in West Baltimore with a superficial gunshot wound in the abdomen. He was treated and released from Franklin Square Hospital and held by police for questioning. Police said other suspects were being held also.

Harbort police said Brown, a filling station owner, was visiting Kenneth E. White, owner of the cruiser. He stumbled as he stepped to the dock and fell into 12 feet of water.

ROCKVILLE, Md., (AP) — Five organizations have requested the Montgomery County Council to reinstate funds for 200 additional teaching positions this fall.

Joining in the request were the Committee for Public Schools, the American Association of University Women, the Montgomery County Civic Federation, the Montgomery County League of Women Voters and the County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Douglas Deplores U.S.-Chinese Bar

BALTIMORE (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas attacked Sunday the lack of contact between the United States and Communist China, and also said he felt too much emphasis was being placed on the military portion of the foreign aid program.

Speaking at commencement exercises at Goucher College, Douglas said:

"The Chinese constitute today one fourth of the people of the world. Can we pretend much longer that they do not exist?"

Washington (AP)—A trailer type tank truck loaded with 7,000 gallons of gasoline partially overturned and ignited Sunday, causing a spectacular fire near the busy Washington-Baltimore Parkway.

No one was seriously injured. The blaze was on New York Avenue as it enters the parkway. The truck driver, Luther E. Addair, 26, of Alexandria, Va., told police that the left front tire on his truck burst into flames but that he was able to escape unharmed.

Addair said the left front side of the truck burst into flames but that he was able to escape unharmed except for a cut on his face.

Ship Strike Averted

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Maritime Union and seven major Great Lakes shippers settled a contract dispute Saturday night after a month of negotiations and averted a strike which threatened to cripple all Great Lakes shipping.

Pact Heads Off Demonstration

BALTIMORE (AP) — Agreement was reached late Saturday night on hiring practices of contractors working on municipal projects, thereby averting a mass demonstration Monday at the site of a public school being built in south Baltimore.

The Rev. Marion C. Bascom, spokesman for the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance, said Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin had advised him late Saturday night that the contractor on the school project had agreed to hire three Negro carpenters, a Negro apprentice electrician and a Negro apprentice plumber.

The school project was the last stumbling block to final agreement on over-all hiring practices on city jobs.

Secrets Of Charm

How To Succeed In Tanning

At this time of year, getting sun-tanned becomes serious business. You can succeed in getting the benefits—but not without really trying, in most cases.

A few precautionary words first. Unlimited amounts of sun, and sun-tan, are not your goal. Sunshine is beneficial only within safe limits. Overexposure results not only in sunburn and skin cancer, it also ages the skin, causes nervousness in some, can in some cases lead to skin cancers.

There are some people who just do not tan, or can acquire very little. If your skin is of this type, you must learn to live with it. The use of sunburn preventives and gradual-exposure plans can, however, help you extend the amount of time you can spend in the sun; for the rest, seek shade and use the many attractive means of covering up your sensitive skin.

For all women—whether you seek a tan for its own sake, or just want to be able to spend more time on the beach—gradual exposure is still the safest and best approach. The amount of ultra-violet rays you're getting under atmospheric conditions, the amount of reflection in different places, the sensitivity of your skin—each of these can vary so greatly that it's best to test each situation at first. Try no more than 15 minutes for your first sunbath; you can increase if no harm results, but rushing the process for "just a few minutes more" may mean just a few days nursing a burn and avoiding the beach entirely.

Burn preventives are so widely available that there's sure to be some kind that helps your tan along safely. But the same product will have different effects on different people, so you may need to experiment before finding the right preparation. It's a good idea to try a little patch test with a new product to check for allergy, especially if you've ever had such trouble. Remember that oils which do not contain screening agents (like baby oil) will not prevent sunburn. Remember, too, that all skin exposed must be covered with the preventive if it's to protect you; that swimming, perspiration, rubbing-off on towels, means renewing applications.

Only preparations seem to do the least good—and they can do harm to those with too-oily skin, and especially to those troubled with acne or blemishes.

With caution, with the aid of a good lotion—you can have fun in the sun and an attractive tan.

Our booklet "Your Color Type" can help you pick out the most complimentary shades to go with your skin, plain or tanned. To obtain a copy, send your request to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this paper, enclosing 10c and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ 2 ♠ K Q 8 4 ♠ K J 10 3 ♠ 7 6 5 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass

? ? ? ?

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand is worth about 12 points in support of hearts, and the suggested call is a jump to three hearts. This would be an overbid in case you had not passed originally but, if partner has made a shaded bid, he need not go on.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ J 2 ♠ Q J 9 5 ♠ Q 10 7 6 ♠ K Q 6

The bidding has proceeded:

What do you bid now?

A.—A response of two no trump is our choice. This is not up to the standard of a two no trump response but, in view of the previous pass, such a call may be made with 11 or 12 points. This hand contains 11, plus some slight values in the way of intermediates. In this situation, a jump to two no trump is not forcing.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ Q 5 4 ♠ A 10 9 7 5 3 ♠ 7 6 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠

4 ♠ 4 ♠ 6 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—In this situation, we would fear that the enemy can fulfill their slam contract and would choose to make a sacrifice bid of six hearts, but preparatory to doing so we would make a call of six diamonds so that if the enemy proceeds to seven clubs your partner will be apprised of your void in diamonds. Naturally, if doubled it is your purpose to return to six hearts.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ K Q J 5 4 ♠ K Q 6 5 4 ♠ K 2 ♠ Q

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♠ 3 ♠

2 ♠ 2 ♠ 4 ♠ Pass

? ? ? ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four no trump. A Blackwood call is recommended. It is not improbable in view of partner's strong bidding that he has three aces. If so, you should be willing to contract for slam. There is no real danger of getting overboard, for surely partner would not do such strong bidding without two aces.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ 10 6 3 ♠ A 7 4 2 ♠ A K 6 4 ♠ Q 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Since you have better than an opening bid, you should make one more try for game. It is true that partner has twice signed off, but that does not alter the fact that he still retains his opening bid. Your hand is more than an opening bid and the recommended call is four clubs. It is hard to visualize a hand on which a 10 trick contract would not be safe on this sequence of bids.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

♠ K 2 ♠ Q 10 2 ♠ A Q 10 4 ♠ A Q J 8

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A.—Our choice is for a bid of one no trump, which is preferred to the double for the reason that you have not ample preparation for the major suit. If partner chooses to bid hearts voluntarily, you will be prepared to support the suit.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠ 7 3 ♠ Q 9 5 ♠ 5 3 2 ♠ K 10 7 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass Pass

2 ♠ 3 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have not sufficient values to justify voluntary action. Partner's hand is limited to some extent by the fact that he failed to double but merely reopened as cheaply as possible with another suit. He probably counted on you for this much when he reentered the auction.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠ 10 9 7 5 ♠ K 2 ♠ 10 9 6 3 ♠ Q 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass Pass

2 ♠ 3 ♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. Partner must take your raise with a grain of salt inasmuch as you were unwilling to raise to two spades on the previous round. In view of your previous pass and the fit in partner's suit, you may take the liberty of raising.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a high school junior who under-taken a part-time job which will enable me to save money for college.

A certain married woman who works in the shipping department where I load trucks has been very nice to me. I think she would like to be a lot nicer and this is my problem.

She is supposed to be through work at 6 p.m. but she always hangs around to have a cup of coffee with me. Her husband works the night shift and she says she doesn't have anything to do at home.

Yesterday she told me I ought to part my hair in the middle and then she took her comb out of her purse and started combing. She got so close to me she steamed up my glasses. I like her, Ann, but I don't want to get mixed up with a married woman. She has pulled with the boss and I can't take a chance on hurting her feelings. Please tell me what to do.—NO JOKE

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Tell that shipping room Cleopatra you think she is charming but married women are strictly out of bounds. Then part your hair on the side, Buster.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am furious with the mother of those eight children who wrote she "could scream" when she sees someone on the porch with a box of hand-me-down clothes.

The woman may speak for herself, but she certainly does not speak for me. I have seven children. My husband has a good job, as hers does. We are not wealthy either—just comfortable. Our friends and relatives have been bringing us hand-me-downs ever since the children were babies. It's been a great help.

I've never considered hand-me-downs an expression of pity. They are gifts of good will from people who like and respect us. The children's attitudes are extremely healthy. They have never been too proud to wear second-hand clothes. They actually argue about who is going to get what.

So, please, Ann Landers, make it plain that SOME of us love to see those boxes. Humility is not an altogether extinct virtue.—GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL: You made it plain and I thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a touchy problem which revolves around a headstrong boss and his irritating habit of bumming cigarettes.

Mr. H. is under doctor's orders. He is not supposed to smoke—he doesn't buy any. His son works in the office and has asked me to let him know at once if I see his father smoking.

If Mr. H. spots a pack of cigarettes on my desk he takes one. When I am away from my desk he goes into the top drawer and helps himself. Whenever he sees me smoking he asks for a cigarette. Yesterday when he asked for a cigarette I reminded him that the doctor said he should not smoke. He told me to mind my own business—that I was paid to work and not to lecture him about his health.

He bums from 8 to 10 cigarettes from me every day and I am sick of it. Please don't tell me to stop smoking. I enjoy it. What I need is a solution to the problem.—UP IN SMOKE

DEAR UP: The first thing in the morning, hand over your pack of cigarettes to the boss' son. When you want a cigarette ask him for one.

The boss will see no cigarettes on your desk, nor will he find any cigarettes in your desk drawer. When he sees you smoking and asks for a cigarette refer him to his son. When you leave for the day take your cigarettes with you.

That's A Ringer

This tense scene took place as the Senior Citizens Club held its annual picnic recently at the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp. Inspecting the ringer in the horseshoe tournament, left to right are Willard I. Moyer, club member; Mrs. R. R. Miller, volunteer worker at the event; Charles S. Stephens, member, and Mrs. Nelle Feather, member of the club sponsored by the City Recreation Department. A feature of the outing was a picnic dinner featuring favorite foods prepared by members.

YMCA Classes Resume In Fall

Miss Viola Broadwater attended the Ladies Shrine Club summer dinner at the Ali Ghan Club, Cumberland. She also attended the annual commencement and reception, June 1 and 2 at State Teachers College, Frostburg.

Classes in language, art, reading, speaking, crafts, and dancing will be offered by the YMCA in the fall, announced Benjamin Haines, secretary. Information regarding exact starting dates, costs, and instructors of the courses may be obtained by calling the YMCA.

Advanced language courses are currently being held at the YMCA and will terminate at the end of June. Mrs. George Aldom, Frostburg, directs the advanced French course, and Andy P. Velazquez of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory teaches Spanish.

State Tax Court Affirms County

Veteran Funds Will Increase By 10 Per Cent

Approximately 45,000 children and 30,000 dependent parents of deceased veterans will receive an increase of about 10 per cent in their monthly dependency and indemnity compensation payments as a result of law enacted by the 88th Congress.

The increased payments will be automatic and will be included in the July checks mailed to reach beneficiaries about August 1. There is no need to write the Veterans Administration about the increase.

A child, who now receives $70 per month, will receive $77 per month under the new law. Two children, currently receiving dependency and indemnity compensation checks amount to $100 per month, will receive $110 equally divided between them.

Three children, receiving $130 per month, will receive $143 per month to divide between themselves. In cases where there are more than three children, each additional child will receive $28 a month under the new law.

In the case of dependent parents living together with an annual income of less than $1,000, their present payment of $50 each will be increased to $85 each under the new law.

The Iraqis Gain
A Famous Theorem

Archaeologists, whom many persons perhaps look upon as nothing more than excavators of old ruins, are having a field day competing with the astronauts for the discovery of new information about our universe. From the Dead Sea scrolls to evidences of another missing link in man's evolution to a new crop of Egyptian mummies, archaeologists seem determined to disprove history books.

Now, they have entered the realm of mathematics by claiming to refute the origin of the Pythagorean Theorem. Iraqi archaeologists, excavating within the city of Baghdad have uncovered an amazing collection of 500 clay tablets recording business transactions, administrative history and letters from the Babylonian kingdom of Eshnunna.

On one of the tablets is an interesting formula for determining the length of the sides of a rectangle. It utilizes the Pythagorean Theorem, which states that in a right triangle, the sum of the squares of the two sides equals the square of the hypotenuse.

The only thing wrong with this use of the theorem is that it was written during the Nineteenth Century B. C., or about 13 centuries before the Greek philosopher Pythagoras made his notes on the mathematical postulate indelible for the better part of 25 centuries.

So the Greeks have lost a mathematical law, the Iraqis have gained one and the acaeologists continue to dig. The law itself remains as solid a foundation block as before, by whatever name it is called. Only the school children will derive lasting benefit from the discovery of this artifact. The Babylonian Theorem is a mite easier to spell than the one named for that Greek Johnny-come-lately.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Clash Below The Surface

The spectre that is haunting the Democratic Party as the racial issue crosses the Potomac going north has hardly been mentioned in the open by election strategists, but it is something that calls for the highest political skills if it is to be exorcized between now and 1964.

The spectre in question involves the economics of the Northern Negro who is looking for upgrading in his job. Generally speaking, this Negro is not a skilled man. When you call the plumber or hire an electrician, it is a virtual certainty that a white man will show up — and if he brings an assistant to carry his tools the color of the assistant's skin will be white, too. In all the traditional crafts there is little more than token integration, and in the "father and son" unions the color line is drawn as part of an ancient monopoly.

In the mass industries it is somewhat better:
Negroes work on the production lines of Detroit.
Indeed, old Henry Ford started hiring them long before he would let an industrial unionist inside his plants. But even in the industrial areas of Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois, there is a problem posed by the nature of immigration from the hills — often highly prejudiced — regions of the backcountry South. The anti-Negro "red necks" have come north, too.

To be sure, the Republican politicians must declare themselves on race issues no less than the Democrats. They must balance on a tightrope on the States' Rights issue simply because they belong to the party of Abraham Lincoln, who overrode the States' Right-ers in his day. But the Republicans' dilemma is as nothing when compared with the Democratic Party's dilemma, not only in the South but north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Making a pitch for the votes of the common man, the Democrats of the North have carried off many a triumph by putting the labor vote together with the so-called "ethnic" vote. When the race issue was mostly a question of providing relief for Negroes or putting them on political payrolls, there was no searing conflict between the labor vote and ethnic considerations.
However, now that the Northern Negro has declared himself, through such organizations as the Urban League, as being unwilling to "wait," the issue between two traditional supports of the Democratic politicians is joined. The tight craft unions must be prepared to give scope to Negro apprentices. This is the crux of the situation — and it is not going to be dismissed easily.

If the Negro is to escape from this business of "waiting," he must be able to earn real money.
The business of "busting" a recalcitrant white block in a good residential area involves more than an abstract possession of the civil right to live anywhere. It involves a quite mundane down-payment on real estate. And to make a down-payment, one must have at least a modicum of income.

In the nature of things, the politician who is competing for the Negro vote can't transform waiters and hod carriers into skilled electricians and plumbers and linotype operators in a few days. The politician can only guarantee that Negroes will be hired on government projects. True enough, he can persuade the business man to give jobs to Negroes provided they have the ability to do the work. But business men can't throw skilled jobs to Negroes when hypocritical union apprentice practices stand, like so many silent Governor Wallaces, in the way.

This pervasive problem of riding the Negro "ethnic" horse and the balky craft union horse at one and the same time is the problem of the hour. It is not an immediately pressing problem for the Republican Party for purely fortuitous geographical reasons.
The Republicans, in the North, happen to draw their prime sustenance from the suburban districts, where the race problem does not yet obtrude. The Negro, when he has earned some real money, will be moving to the suburbs, and when he gets there, the Republicans will have to reckon with the problem of race consciousness. But this will not pose itself as a big Republican issue for 1964. It is an issue the Democratic Party will have to meet simply because Democrats have been in power in the cities.

Frustrated Fan Dancer

Jobs For Negroes, And 'The Other America'

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On the day the good news came in from Alabama, the tick-ers also carried reports of the assassination of a Mississippi Negro leader, of men wounded in race riots in Cambridge, Md., and of the Rev. Martin Luther King's decision to organize mass sit-in demonstrations in Washington, D. C.

In other words, the racial crisis is not subsiding, even though a grave challenge in Alabama was successfully handled by the careful foresight and cool judgment of the Justice Department.
Indeed, the crisis is moving into a new phase, as the projected Washington sit-ins clearly indicate.

Washington, it must be remembered, has not been a segregated city in the Southern sense for a very long time. But in Washington, as in the Northern cities, the great majority of the Negro population is to be found in a series of Negro ghettos.

Most of the Washington Negroes belong to what the Catholic sociologist, Michael Harrington, has called "The Other America," in his indignant and deeply distressing study of poverty in the United States. In other words, they are trapped in poverty, which is "the other America," because they have not the educational and other equipment needed to escape into Prof. Galbraith's "affluent society."

If so many of the Washington Negroes were not trapped in this "other America" from which most of us prefer to avert our eyes, they would be less ready to demonstrate with Martin Luther King. But their emotions, understandable as they may be, are only one aspect of the matter.

The social and political aspects are just as important as the emotional aspect. It is downright frightening, for instance, that the level of joblessness among Negro youths of working age in many districts of Philadelphia has now risen above 77 per cent.

The young people, many of them school drop-outs without training for skilled jobs, clearly constitute the worst part of the problem. If they are simply left to rot, with more than seven in every ten unemployed in cities like Philadelphia, then the gravest results of all sorts must be expected—in crime rates, in political tendencies, in deteriorating social patterns.

But the young people are by no means the whole problem. It is also downright frightening, for example, that in the huge Negro than 17.8 per cent of those who want to work are now unable to find jobs.

That means that, for the Chicago Negroes, the job situation today is worse than the worst this country experienced in the bitter depths of the great depression. Anyone of an age to remember what 16 per cent of unemployment was like in 1932 will feel his stomach turn at the grim meaning of this Chicago figure.

As of now, moreover, the position is due to get worse rather

ANOTHER LONG SESSION —

Another long session of Congress now appears to be a certainty. It's likely that the legislators will prospect stems from two entirely unrelated situations
— one dealing with the tax bill and the other with the mounting crisis over segregation.

On the tax bill, work so far done by the House Ways and Means Committee in drafting a measure indicates that the final House form will be far from what President Kennedy asked for, and far from what the Senate is likely to accept. The outlook is for the Senate to pass a measure differing widely from the House version, to be followed by a long stalemate as the two Houses of Congress attempt to reconcile their differences.

The mounting crisis over segregation in the South is an even more serious threat to early adjournment. The Kennedy administration has widely misjudged the temper of the colored voting bloc and will make efforts to correct this by asking boarder integration legislation than was originally planned.

At the beginning of the session, the President planned to seek only extension of the Civil Rights Commission and a measure to give Negroes greater voting rights. Now, word is that measures are being drawn up to put more speed behind the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision. It's possible that Kennedy will ask for a law to integrate all public facilities, such as transportation, restaurants, stores, parks and waiting rooms
as well as schools.

This move will bring on the most bitter fight that Congress has witnessed in many years.
Filibusters are certain, and administration forces, coupled with liberal Republicans, will join to make a concerted effort to break them. It's possible that the talk-athon will become so long and so bitter that this session of Congress may run right into the next one.

More People Living To Heart Attack Age

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Heart attacks are more frequent today because more of us are living long enough to suffer this fate. We can thank— or condemn— the antibiotics which prevent deaths at an earlier age from infections.

Dr. Broda O. Barnes and Dr.
Max Ratzenhofer of Denver presented this theory before the meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. They cite statistics from Graz, Austria, a city with only one hospital that is used by rich and poor. Everyone who dies there must be auto-psied, according to law.

If this concept is correct, changing our diet will have little influence on the incidence of heart attacks.

Deaths from coronary thrombosis decreased during World War II, and the shortage of fats at that time was held responsible.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Newly elected public officials should bear in mind Maxwell Droke's story about the customer in a pet shop who toyed with buying a parrot on display. The bird was absolutely quiet for several moments, and the customer finally asked a sales clerk, "Does this parrot ever talk?" "Indeed he does, ma'am," the clerk assured her, "but he doesn't wish to be quoted."

A lad in California, just graduated from high school, obtained a job in a new electronics plant, but quit at the end of a fortnight.
"The hours and wages were fine," he admitted, "but I just didn't like the work. I'm sorry now I learned the business."

James Gordon Bennett, owner of the once-powerful New York Herald, was as vain as he was capricious. He demanded personal credit for every triumph earned by his staff; when any employee was accorded public recognition

on his own, Bennett sacked him.
One day Bennett demanded by cable that a list be given him of all the men on the Herald staff the managing editor considered indispensable. A list of his fourteen best men was promptly supplied. Bennett immediately fired every one of them! He told his secretary, "I will have no indispensable men in my employ."

Railroad Featherbedding Talks At Dead End As Deadline Approaches

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Almost ever since March 4, when the Supreme Court handed down its decree supporting the railroads' right to eliminate so-called featherbedding, the representatives of the railroads and the railroad brotherhoods have been negotiating patiently but with absolutely no results.

Their mediator is skilled Assistant Secretary of Labor Jim Reynolds, a friend of labor and a member of the National Labor Relations board. He knows the problems of both labor and management and is sympathetic to the railroads, for he was once vice president of the American Locomotive Company in charge of labor relations. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., negotiator for the shipping strike, paid tribute to him as one of the best negotiators in the business.

However, though Reynolds has patiently kept both sides talking, they have now reached the end of the road. Officially it expires at midnight tonight (June 17).

The railroads, badly hit by airplane and truck competition, claim they can save $600,000,000 a year by eliminating feather-bedding. The unions claim between 65,000 and 80,000 men will be thrown out of work.

Ed Gilbert is head of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen, the union most affected by the use of diesel locomotives, which require no coal-shoveling firemen. Gilbert is one of the squarest union leaders in the business, but no union leader is going to negotiate away several thousand jobs without a struggle. This goes for other affected brotherhoods.

So to prevent a strike, President Kennedy will either call on Congress to pass legislation requiring compulsory arbitration, or he may propose voluntary arbitration with both sides bound to accept the award.

Paradoxically, Kennedy when a Senator asked for appointment to the Senate Labor Committee, where he was instrumental in writing pro-labor legislation. It was labor which worked hard to nominate him at Los Angeles and raised money to elect him. Judging by a recent meeting of labor leaders with president George Meany, they are expected to be his strongest supporters in 1964.

However, the showdown over a railroad strike is inescapable, and the President is forced to line up against his old supporters.

Macmillan's 'Model' Government

President Kennedy is not happy about stopping in London on the heels of the Profumo sex scandal and is taking pains to impress the British that his stop will not be a political endorsement of the Macmillan "Model" government.

This is why Kennedy rolled out the red carpet for George Brown, deputy leader of the British Labor Party, now in Washington after filling a lecture engagement at Harvard. Kennedy sent several aides to Harvard to brief
Brown on United States policies, after which Brown was invited to the White House. He was given long appointments with Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara, and Secretary of the Interior Udall who took him on a cruise down the Potomac. The Americans made it clear that they expect the Labor Party to win the next British election.

Rusk and McNamara also put quiet pressure on Brown to accept the idea of a nuclear surface fleet. However, the British leader, who would be the Defense Minister in any Labor government, refused to go along. He questioned the military feasibility of surface ships in the missile -megaton age and pointed out that the Russians seemed to have no trouble locating carriers at sea.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, Harold Wilson, leader of the British Labor Party, confided that Premier Khrushchev had told him Russia had stopped manufacturing bombers and surface warships. Khrushchev described them as too vulnerable.

NOTE—In Paris, General Lyman Lemnitzer, the NATO commander, has protested privately against the 25-ship NATO nuclear fleet he is supposed to command. He has warned Washington that slow-moving surface ships are too vulnerable to air and missile attacks to be worth anything.

Anti-Nepotism Congressman

It takes real courage to offer an anti-nepotism amendment in Congress, where relatives are clustered on the public payroll like grapes in a California vineyard. However, spunky Rep. John Kyl, Iowa Republican, did it the other day, even though he knew he was battling for a hopeless cause.

In presenting the amendment, barring relatives of House members "by blood or marriage" from Congressional jobs, Kyl told colleagues:

"There has been much discussion about the 'image' foreigners have about the United States, but we might better be concerned with what American citizens think of Congress. If the people can't have faith in this institution, their faith in our very foundations is shattered."

"Congress must not only refrain from wrongdoing, it must refrain from those unnecessary practices which give the impression of wrongdoing. High in this category is nepotism. The citizens of this nation generally object to nepotism."

When Democrat Tom Steed of Oklahoma, who has no relatives on his own payroll, objected that Kyl's amendment should have been presented to the "proper committee," instead of being offered on the House floor, Democrat Neal Smith of Iowa shot back:

"I have an anti-nepotism bill and I have not yet been able to get a hearing. And I have asked almost every month for a hearing."

In the showdown, however, Kyl couldn't even get enough support — in this case, one-fifth of the members on the floor—to force a teller vote. Several Congressmen said privately that it was useless to consume House time with a teller (non-roll call) vote on something that was bound to be rejected overwhelmingly. So there was no vote. But the few who stood up to demand it—besides Kyl and Smith—included H. R.
Gross, R-Iowa, M. G. Snyder, R-Ky., and Durward Hall, R-Mo.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It was a special birthday. A very special one. Frau Katharina Rook was 55. She is a short, attractive woman with grayingbrown hair, brown eyes, a German woman who is in the United States two years and has an accent like a U-boat captain. She is our housekeeper, but she is more than that. She is mother, guide, consience, friend — the only member of the family who gets paid.

We were in the Bahamas at Easter when Katie sustained a heart attack. It was a thrombosis, first class. Our little girls—Karen, 10, and Kathleen, 8—had the presence of mind to phone my secretary, Mrs. Ralph Walter. She hurried over, and Katie kept moaning: "It is nussing. I am sick the stomach by."

Our daughter Gayle, 19, who is studying to be a nurse, came in from bowling and took a look. She phoned Dr. George Sheehan, Dr.
Charles Kelly, and the Sea Bright Volunteer Ambulance Corps. She got action. Katie told the doctor that she would not go to the hospital.

Gayle said: "Go, Katie. I'll ride the ambulance with you and I'll take the night off and sit by your bed." Katie went. In the Bahamas, Kelly and I received cables saying that Katie was not expected to last through the night. There was no communication between there and here except prayer. For three days, Katie was comatose.
After that, she began the long uphill battle.

Now she is home and well. It is impossible to teach her how to sit when there is work to be done.
She comes from a town called Lowenstein, near Hamelin. There, she had nine children and a job in a factory, in addition to a heartily sense of humor. When Katie laughs, windows crack.
When there is work to be done,
she cracks a whip.

So it was her birthday and Gayle bought fancy pajamas; the little ones bought bath salts and drew their own birthday card; Ginny, who also loves Katie, sent word that whenever Katie tires of the frantic antics of the Bishops, Katie has a home with the Franches. My father, who flirts with Katie, said: "Ah, if only I was 20 years younger..."

We took her to Monmouth racetrack and later, to dinner. At the track, Kelly and I urged her to try corned beef and cabbage and a boiled potato. It is more Irish than German, but she enjoyed it.
Kelly and I began to work out our involved mathematics of figuring the horses, but Katie not only did not understand it, she couldn't understand the names of the horses or what they were running for.

Every time I left the table for the mutuel window, she said:

"You bet me two dollar dis one, please." We couldn't make her understand the difference between win, place and show either. She put $2 to place on Good Luck Jody and it came in second, paying $4.40. The weary eyes sparkled like summer lightning and she bet on Freedom in the next race.

"Wrong horse," I said. "Le-gale is the horse." She shook her head. "Mister Bischoff, ven I leave Deutschland, they tell in the United States I will freedom find. So I like his huss." I told her it was a different spelling, a different word. It made no difference.

Freedom won. I said nothing.
She got another $4.40. "It isn't much," I said. Katie grinned.
"It is my money dabble. Dot is gut, no?" She lost on the third race and called Dance Queen "a schwein" for coming in third. In another race, she liked Solid Mike, but I told her that Solid Mike couldn't win if he was running alone. So she bet on Big I am, and Big I am trotted home last and Solid Mike won, paying $6.20.

Jimmie in the 7th was everybody's best bet of the day, but Katie liked Nana's Man. Nana's Man won, paying $8.60 and Katie began to tell me how beautiful Monmouth Park is, how wonderful it is to be 55, and why do I not listen to her when she tells me which horse is going to win.
"Vy do you not listen to me," I shouted, "ven I tell you vich dish to vashen aready?"

She laughed uproariously at my accent and assured Kelly that I am a very "funny man." At the end of the seventh race, we left.
Katie was ahead of the game. She was radiant with money. "Vy you stay not for the next ven?" she said. Katie pointed to a horse whose name she could not pronounce: Inquisition.

"Because," I said, "it is smart to leave when you're ahead. Tonight, I will let you pay the dinner check." She turned to Kelly puzzled.
"Vas ist?" she said. Kelly explained that a dinner check is what the waiter brings on paper.
"Oh no," Katie said loudly. "It is my bird day; you take Tante Kate to dinner, you pay."

We had a great time, and a hundred laughs. We wanted her to know how thankful we are that she recovered, and how important she is to all of us. Kisses will not do it. They can be faked. She who waited on us is now waited on. She who gave love unasked, has it.

Fortunately, she can't read the newspapers. Inquisition won the 8th race and paid $13.20 for $2.
This information could bring on another heart attack...

The Iraqis Gain A Famous Theorem

Archaeologists, whom many persons perhaps look upon as nothing more than excavators of old ruins, are having a field day competing with the astronauts for the discovery of new information about our universe. From the Dead Sea scrolls to evidences of another missing link in man's evolution to a new crop of Egyptian mummies, archaeologists seem determined to disprove history books.

Now, they have entered the realm of mathematics by claiming to refute the origin of the Pythagorean Theorem. Iraqi archaeologists, excavating within the city of Baghdad have uncovered an amazing collection of 500 clay tablets recording business transactions, administrative history and letters from the Babylonian kingdom of Eshnunna.

On one of the tablets is an interesting formula for determining the length of the sides of a rectangle. It utilizes the Pythagorean Theorem, which states that in a right triangle, the sum of the squares of the two sides equals the square of the hypotenuse.

The only thing wrong with this use of the theorem is that it was written during the Nineteenth Century B. C., or about 13 centuries before the Greek philosopher Pythagoras made his notes on the mathematical postulate indelible for the better part of 25 centuries.

So the Greeks have lost a mathematical law, the Iraqis have gained one and the archaeologists continue to dig. The law itself remains as solid a foundation block as before, by whatever name it is called. Only the school children will derive lasting benefit from the discovery of this artifact. The Babylonian Theorem is a mite easier to spell than the one named for that Greek Johnny-come-lately.

These Days

Clash Below The Surface

The spectre that is haunting the Democratic Party as the racial issue crosses the Potomac going north has hardly been mentioned in the open by election strategists, but it is something that calls for the highest political skills if it is to be exorcized between now and 1964.

The spectre in question involves the economics of the Northern Negro who is looking for upgrading in his job. Generally speaking, this Negro is not a skilled man. When you call the plumber or hire an electrician, it is a virtual certainty that a white man will show up — and if he brings an assistant to carry his tools the color of the assistant's skin will be white, too. In all the traditional crafts there is little more than token integration, and in the "father and son" unions the color line is drawn as part of an ancient monopoly.

In the mass industries it is somewhat better: Negroes work on the production lines of Detroit. Indeed, old Henry Ford started hiring them long before he would let an industrial unionist inside his plants. But even in the industrial areas of Michigan, Ohio, and Illinois, there is a problem posed by the nature of immigration from the hills — often highly prejudiced — regions of the back-country South. The anti-Negro "red necks" have come north, too.

To be sure, the Republican politicians must declare themselves on race issues no less than the Democrats. They must balance on a tightrope on the States' Rights issue simply because they belong to the party of Abraham Lincoln, who overrode the States' Rights in his day. But the Republicans' dilemma is as nothing when compared with the Democratic Party's dilemma, not only in the South but north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Making a pitch for the votes of the common man, the Democrats of the North have carried off many a triumph by putting the labor vote together with the so-called "ethnic" vote. When the race issue was mostly a question of providing relief for Negroes or putting them on political payrolls, there was no serious conflict between the labor vote and ethnic considerations. However, now that the Northern Negro has declared himself, through such organizations as the Urban League, as being unwilling to "wait," the issue between two traditional supports of the Democratic politicians is joined. The tight craft unions must be prepared to give scope to Negro apprentices. This is the crux of the situation — and it is not going to be dismissed easily.

If the Negro is to escape from this business of "waiting," he must be able to earn real money. The business of "busting" a recalcitrant white block in a good residential area involves more than an abstract possession of the civil right to live anywhere. It involves a quite mundane down-payment on real estate. And to make a down-payment, one must have more than a hod carrier's income.

In the nature of things, the politician who is competing for the Negro vote can't transform waiters and hod carriers into skilled electricians and plumbers and linotype operators in a few days. The politician can only guarantee that Negroes will be hired on government projects. True enough, he can persuade the business man to give jobs to Negroes provided they have the ability to do the work. But business men can't throw skilled jobs to Negroes when hypocritical union apprentice practices stand, like so many silent Governor Wallaces, in the way.

This pervasive problem of riding the Negro "ethnic" horse and the balky craft union horse at one and the same time is the problem of the hour. It is not an immediately pressing problem for the Republican Party for purely fortuitous geographical reasons. The Republicans, in the North, happen to draw their prime sustenance from the suburban districts, where the race problem does not yet obtrude. The Negro, when he has earned some real money, will be moving to the suburbs, and when he gets there, the Republicans will have to reckon with the problem of race consciousness. But this will not pose itself as a big Republican issue for 1964. It is an issue the Democratic Party will have to meet simply because Democrats have been in power in the cities.

Jobs For Negroes, And 'The Other America'

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

On the day the good news came in from Alabama, the tickers also carried reports of the assassination of a Mississippi Negro leader, of men wounded in race riots in Cambridge, Md., and of the Rev. Martin Luther King's decision to organize mass sit-in demonstrations in Washington, D. C.

In other words, the racial crisis is not subsiding, even though a grave challenge in Alabama was successfully handled by the careful foresight and cool judgment of the Justice Department. Indeed, the crisis is moving into a new phase, as the projected Washington sit-ins clearly indicate.

Washington, it must be remembered, has not been a segregated city in the Southern sense for a very long time. But in Washington, as in the Northern cities, the great majority of the Negro population is to be found in a series of Negro ghettos.

Most of the Washington Negroes belong to what the Catholic sociologist, Michael Harrington, has called "The Other America," in his indignant and deeply disturbing study of poverty in the United States. In other words, they are trapped in poverty, which is "the other America," because they have not the educational and other equipment needed to escape into Prof. Galbraith's "affluent society."

If so many of the Washington Negroes were not trapped in this "other America" from which most of us prefer to avert our eyes, they would be less ready to demonstrate with Martin Luther King. But their emotions, understandable as they may be, are only one aspect of the matter.

The social and political aspects are just as important as the emotional aspect. It is downright frightening, for instance, that the level of joblessness among Negro youths of Philadelphia has now risen above 77 per cent.

The young people, many of them school drop-outs without any training for skilled jobs, clearly constitute the worst part of the problem. If they are simply left to rot, with more than seven in every ten unemployed in cities like Philadelphia, then the gravest results of all sorts must be expected—in crime rates, in political tendencies, in deteriorating social patterns.

But the young people are by no means the whole problem. It is also downright frightening, for example, that in the huge Negro population of Chicago, no less are the jobs which are getting scarcer and scarcer. The new jobs that are being created by the U. S. Economy almost invariably demand advanced skills. These are the skills which the educationally underprivileged Negroes tend not to possess.

Hence assurance to all of equal rights under the Constitution without regard to creed or color, is only the first part of the task ahead. Attorney General Robert Kennedy has said: "For practical purposes, the education bill and the tax bill, which will create jobs, are even more important."

The Administration's policy-makers are also increasingly convinced that the attack on the race problem needs a third prong. In other words, in addition to insuring civil rights and creating more jobs, an emergency effort must also be made to assist escape from their trap by the other inhabitants of "the other America," who include the populations of very depressed industrial and mining areas, as well as the Negro population.

Such an effort would require a program combining several different activities. One line of action is represented by the Youth Opportunity Bill, providing for a CCC-like program for jobless youths.

A broad vocational training program for school drop-outs, a body like the Peace Corps to work in the ghettos and other underprivileged areas, a more energetic attack on juvenile delinquency, a program to retain men whose jobs have been lost by automation—all these are also needed.

All these things have been proposed already. But the proposals need to be strengthened and the whole needs to be combined into one broad effort, imbued with the sense of urgency the crisis imposes.

ANOTHER LONG SESSION — Another long session of Congress now appears to be a certainty. It's likely that the legislators will prospect stems from two entirely unrelated situations—one dealing with the tax bill and the other with the mounting crisis over segregation.

On the tax bill, work so far done by the House Ways and Means Committee in drafting a measure indicates that the final House form will be far from what President Kennedy asked for, and far from what the Senate is likely to accept. The outlook is for the Senate to pass a measure differing widely from the House version, to be followed by a long stalemate as the two Houses of Congress attempt to reconcile their differences.

The mounting crisis over segregation in the South is an even more serious threat to early adjournment. The Kennedy administration has widely misjudged the temper of the colored voting bloc and will make efforts to correct this by asking boarder integration legislation than was originally planned.

At the beginning of the session, the President planned to seek only extension of the Civil Rights Commission and a measure to give Negroes greater voting rights. Now, word is that measures are being drawn up to put more speed behind the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision. It's possible that Kennedy will ask for a law to integrate all public facilities, such as transportation, restaurants, stores, parks and waiting rooms as well as schools.

This move will bring on the most bitter fight that Congress has witnessed in many years. Filibusters are certain, and administration forces, coupled with liberal Republicans, will join to make a concerted effort to break them. It's possible that the talkathon will become so long and so bitter that this session of Congress may run right into the next one.

Railroad Featherbedding Talks At Dead End As Deadline Approaches

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Almost ever since March 4, when the Supreme Court handed down its decree supporting the railroads' right to eliminate so-called featherbedding, the representatives of the railroads and the railroad brotherhoods have been negotiating patiently but with absolutely no results.

Their mediator is skilled Assistant Secretary of Labor Jim Reynolds, a friend of labor and a former member of the National Labor Relations board. The railroads, badly hit by airplane and truck competition, claim they can save $600,000,000 a year by eliminating featherbedding. The unions claim between 65,000 and 80,000 men will be thrown out of work.

Ed Gilbert is head of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen, the union most affected by the use of diesel locomotives, which require no coal-fueled firemen. Gilbert is one of the staunchest union leaders in the business, but no union leader is going to negotiate away several thousand jobs without a struggle. This goes for other affected brotherhoods.

So to prevent a strike, President Kennedy will either call on Congress to pass legislation requiring compulsory arbitration, or he may propose voluntary arbitration with both sides bound to accept the award.

Paradoxically, Kennedy when a Senator asked for appointment to the Senate Labor Committee, where he was instrumental in writing pro-labor legislation. It was labor which worked hard to nominate him at Los Angeles and raised money to elect him. Judging by a recent meeting of labor leaders with president George Meany, they are expected to be his strongest supporters in 1964.

However, the showdown over a railroad strike is inescapable and the President is forced to line up against his old supporters.

Macmillan's 'Model' Government

President Kennedy is not happy about stopping in London on the heels of the Profumo sex scandal and is taking pains to impress the British that his stop will not be a political endorsement of the Macmillan "Model" government.

This is why Kennedy rolled out the red carpet for George Brown, deputy leader of the British Labor Party, now in Washington after filling a lecture engagement at Harvard. Kennedy sent several aides to Harvard to brief Brown on United States policies, after which Brown was invited to the White House. He was given long appointments with Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara, and Secretary of the Interior Udall who took him on a cruise down the Potomac. The Americans made it clear that they expect the Labor Party to win the next British election.

Rusk and McNamara also put quiet pressure on Brown to accept the idea of a nuclear surface fleet. However, the British leader, who would be the Defense Minister in any Labor government, refused to go along. He questioned the military feasibility of surface ships in the missile-megaton age and pointed out that the Russians seemed to have no trouble locating carriers at sea.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, Harold Wilson, leader of the British Labor Party, confided that Premier Khrushchev had told him Russia had stopped manufacturing bombers and surface warships. Khrushchev described them as too vulnerable.

NOTE—In Paris, General Lyman Lemnitzer, the NATO commander, has protested privately against the 25-ship NATO nuclear fleet he is supposed to command. He has warned Washington that slow-moving surface ships are too vulnerable to air and missile attacks to be worth anything.

Anti-Nepotism Congressmen

It takes real courage to offer an anti-nepotism amendment in Congress, where relatives are clustered on the public payroll like grapes in a California vineyard. However, spunky Rep. John Kyl, Iowa Republican, did it the other day, even though he knew he was battling for a hopeless cause.

In presenting the amendment, barring relatives of House members "by blood or marriage" from Congressional jobs, Kyl told colleagues:

"There has been much discussion about the 'image' foreigners have about the United States, but we might better be concerned with what American citizens think of Congress. If the people can't have faith in this institution, their faith in our very foundations is shattered."

"Congress must not only refrain from wrongdoing, it must refrain from those unnecessary practices which give the impression of wrongdoing. High in this category is nepotism. The citizens of this nation generally object to nepotism."

When Democrat Tom Steed of Oklahoma, who has no relatives on his own payroll, objected that Kyl's amendment should have been presented to the "proper committee," instead of being offered on the House floor, Democrat Neal Smith of Iowa shot back:

"I have an anti-nepotism bill and I have not yet been able to get a hearing. And I have asked almost every month for a hearing."

In the showdown, however, Kyl couldn't even get enough support—in this case, one-fifth of the members on the floor—to force a teller vote. Several Congressmen said privately that it was useless to consume House time with a teller (non-roll call) vote on something that was bound to be rejected overwhelmingly. So there was no vote. But the few who stood up to demand it—besides Kyl and Smith—included H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, M. G. Snyder, R-Ky., and Durward Hall, R-Mo.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It was a special birthday. A very special one. Frau Katharina Rook was 55. She is a short, attractive woman with graying-brown hair, brown eyes, a German woman who is in the United States two years and has an accent like a U-boat captain. She is our housekeeper, but she is more than that. She is mother, guide, conscience, friend — the only member of the family who gets paid.

We were in the Bahamas at Easter when Katie sustained a heart attack. It was a thrombosis, first class. Our little girls—Karen, 10, and Kathleen, 8—had the presence of mind to phone my secretary, Mrs. Ralph Walter. She hurried over, and Katie kept moaning: "It is nussing. I am sick the stomach by."

Our daughter Gayle, 19, who is studying to be a nurse, came in from bowling and took a look. She phoned Dr. George Sheehan, Dr. Charles Kelly, and the Sea Bright Volunteer Ambulance Corps. She got action. Katie told the doctor that she would not go to the hospital.

Gayle said: "Go, Katie. I'll ride the ambulance with you and I'll take the night off and sit by your bed." Katie went. In the Bahamas, Kelly and I received cables saying that Katie was not expected to last through the night. There was no communication between there and here except prayer. For three days, Katie was comatose. After that, she began the long uphill battle.

Now she is home and well. It is impossible to teach her how to sit when there is work to be done. She comes from a town called Lowenstein, near Hamelin. There, she had nine children and a job in a factory, in addition to a hearty sense of humor. When Katie laughs, windows crack. When there is work to be done, she cracks a whip.

So it was her birthday and Gayle bought fancy pajamas; the little ones bought bath salts and drew their own birthday card; Ginny, who also loves Katie, sent word that whenever Katie tires of the frantic antics of the Bishops, Katie has a home with the Franches. My father, who flirts with Katie, said: "Ah, if only I was 29 years younger..."

We took her to Monmouth race-track and later, to dinner. At the track, Kelly and I urged her to try corned beef and cabbage and a boiled potato. It is more Irish than German, but she enjoyed it. Kelly and I began to work out our involved mathematics of figuring the horses, but Katie not only did not understand it, she couldn't understand the names of the horses or what they were running for.

the mutual window, she said: "You bet me two dollar dis one, please." We couldn't make her understand the difference between win, place and show either. She put $2 to place on Good Luck Jody and it came in second, paying $4.40. The weary eyes sparkled like summer lightning and she bet on Freedom in the next race.

"Wrong horse," I said. "Le-gayle is the horse." She shook her head. "Mister Bischoff, ven I leave Deutschland, they tell in the United States I will freedom find. So I like his huss." I told her it was a different spelling, a different word. It made no difference.

Freedom won. I said nothing. She got another $4.40. "It isn't much," I said. Katie grinned. "It is my money dabble. Dot is gut, no?" She lost on the third race and called Dance Queen "a schwein" for coming in third. In another race, she liked Solid Mike, but I told her that Solid Mike couldn't win if he was running alone. So she bet on Big I am, and Big I am trotted home last and Solid Mike won, paying $6.20.

Jimmull in the 7th was everybody's best bet of the day, but Katie liked Nana's Man. Nana's Man won, paying $8.60 and Katie began to tell me how beautiful Monmouth Park is, how wonderful it is to be 55, and why do I not listen to her when she tells me which horse is going to win. "Vy do you not listen to me," I shouted, "even I tell you vich dish to vashen areddy?"

She laughed uproariously at my accent and assured Kelly that I am a very "fanny man." At the end of the seventh race, we left. Katie was ahead of the game. She was radiant with money. "Vy you stay not for the next run?" she said. Katie pointed to a horse whose name she could not pronounce: Inquisition.

"Because," I said, "it is smart to leave when you're ahead. Tonight, I will let you pay the dinner check." She turned to Kelly puzzled. "Was ist?" she said. Kelly explained that a dinner check is what the waiter brings on paper. "Oh no," Katie said loudly. "It is my bird day; you take Tante Kate to dinner, you pay."

We had a great time, and a hundred laughs. We wanted her to know how thankful we are that she recovered, and how important she is to all of us. Kisses will not do it. They can be faked. She who waited on us is now waited on. She who gave love unasked, has it.

Fortunately, she can't read the newspapers. Inquisition won the 8th race and paid $33.20 for $2. This information could bring on another heart attack...

More People Living To Heart Attack Age

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Heart attacks are more frequent today because more of us are living long enough to suffer this fate. We can thank—or condemn—the antibiotics which prevent deaths at an earlier age from infections.

Dr. Broda O. Barnes and Dr. Max Ratzenhofer of Denver presented this theory before the meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. They cite statistics from Graz, Austria, a city with only one hospital that is used by rich and poor. Everyone who dies there must be autopsied, according to law.

If this concept is correct, changing our diet will have little influence on the incidence of heart attacks.

Deaths from coronary thrombosis decreased during World War II, and the shortage of fats at that time was held responsible.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Newly elected public officials should bear in mind Maxwell Droke's story about the customer in a pet shop who toyed with buying a parrot on display. The bird was absolutely quiet for several moments, and the customer finally asked a sales clerk, "Does this parrot ever talk?" "Indeed he does, ma'am," the clerk assured her, "but he doesn't wish to be quoted."

A lad in California, just graduated from high school, obtained a job in a new electronics plant, but quit at the end of a fortnight. "The hours and wages were fine," he admitted, "but I just didn't like the work. I'm sorry now I learned the business."

James Gordon Bennett, owner of the once-powerful New York Herald, was as vain as he was capricious. He demanded personal credit for every triumph earned by his staff; when any employee was accorded public recognition on his own, Bennett sacked him. One day Bennett demanded by cable that a list be given him of all the men on the Herald staff the managing editor considered indispensable. A list of his four-best men was promptly supplied. Bennett immediately fired every one of them! He told his secretary, "I will have no indispensable men in my employ."

Mt. Savage Edges Cumberland, 4-3, In 15-Inning Pen-Mar Battle

Wayne Johnson Gains Eighth Win For Loop Leaders

| Hyndman | 2 | 7 | .222 |
| Barreille | 2 | 9 | .182 |

Mt. Savage workhorse Wayne Johnson won his own game in the bottom of the 15th inning yesterday with a sacrifice fly which gave the league-leading Old Germans a 4-3 triumph over Cumberland at Mt. Savage in the feature battle on yesterday's Pen-Mar League schedule.

In a battle for second place at Lonaconing, the Frostburg Merchants nipped the Coney Independents, 4-3, to up their record to 7-4. Hyndman moved out of the cellar, stopping host Barreille, 6-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Wellington Donahue.

The Old Germans whose victory was their ninth in 11 games, had to rally for a run in the bottom of the ninth to send the struggle into extra innings.

With one out in the ninth and Mt. Savage trailing, 3-2, Bobby Robertson walked and came home with the tying run on Rich Lybarger's two-base hit. Cumberland pitcher Johnny Price then retired Steve Faulkner on a ground out, and got Ted Femi to fly out.

Johnson, a lefthander, hurled the entire 15 innings to gain his eighth win against one loss. He yielded one run to the visitors in the fourth and gave up two more in the fifth before reeling off a string of ten scoreless innings.

The Hermans loaded the bases with none out in the 12th, but a double play wiped out that threat. Eddie Parsons relieved Price in the tenth and gave up only three hits, but two of them were bunched in the 15th frame.

Faulkner led off the 15th with a double and moved to third on Femi's safety. Catcher Kenny Johnson was passed intentionally to load the bases. Wayne Johnson then lofted a fly to leftfield and Faulkner tagged up with the winning tally.

Mt. Savage pulled off its rally-killing double play in the 12th when Bobby Green grabbed Johnny Horwath's pop behind third and caught John Sloan off third base. Fred Schindler ended the inning by hitting into a force play.

The Old Germans had ten hits to Cumberland's seven, with Robertson, Lybarger and Fay often getting two apiece. Howard Reynolds had a triple and two singles for the Hermans.

Price struck out 11 batters and Parsons fanned five to give the Cumberland pitchers a total of 16 strikeouts. Johnson whiffed a dozen and walked only two.

A long ball hitting contest was staged prior to the game, and was won by Mt. Savage slugger Bobby Robertson. Three players from each team competed.

Righthander Terry Turbin, who pitched Keyser High School into the semi-finals of the West Virginia high school tournament this season, made his first start for Frostburg yesterday and worked the first eight innings to pick up the win.

Turbin, who struck out five, yielded all of Lonaconing's runs in the bottom of the sixth. John Thomas' two-run double was the big blow in that frame.

Frostburg scored one run in the third and added its other three in the fourth off Grover Fazenbaker, who was handed his second loss in six decisions.

A triple by Jime Rice scored two runs during the Merchants' fourth inning outburst. Rice also had a double, while Gary Keedy and Donnie Nave had two singles apiece. Thomas was the only Coney player with more than one hit.

Donahue, who recently joined Hyndman after starting the campaign with Cumberland, scattered four singles while walking four and fanning three in pitching the Pennsylvanians to their second win in nine games. Barreille (2-9) dropped into last place.

Orville W. "Stoney" Jackson won the forty-first annual spring handicap golf tournament championship of the Cumberland Country Club yesterday when he defeated Bob Girod in the finals of the title flight, 4 and 3.

In yesterday's 18-hole finale, Jackson posted a one-under-par 70 and he gave Girod one stroke on the 7th and 13th holes.

Mt. Storm Grabs T&C Lead; Slagle Pitches No-Hitter

Mt. Storm moved into first place in the Town and Country Softball League yesterday by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from Oakland, 6-0 and 8-7. Loch Lynn dropped into second place with an 11-3 record by losing to Petersburg, 4-3, after winning the opener, 6-1.

Highlighting yesterday's T&C action was a no-hit performance by Friendsville's Mervin Slagle in the opener of a doubleheader with Kitzmiller. Friendsville won that game, 14-0, and also blanked Kitzmiller in the second game, 8-0, behind Don Slagle's five-hit hurling.

National Guard and Swallow Falls split a twinnit at Oakland, the Guardians winning the first game, 6-2, and dropping the second, 10-0.

Al Barlick Resigns As N. L. Umpire

Says He's Fed Up And Is Going Home

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Al Barlick, a protege of the famed Bill Klem and with 24 years of experience as the National League's senior umpire, resigned Sunday in a telephone conversation with league secretary Fred Fleig.

League President Warren Giles announced Barlick's resignation and quoted him as saying: "I'm fed up with the whole thing and I'm going home."

"I have been unable to contact him," said Giles. "I hope that he'll change his mind because he is an excellent umpire and a fine person."

Recognized by many managers and players as one of the best umpires in National League history, Barlick started umpiring for a game while a coal miner in Illinois. He entered pro umpiring ranks in the Northeast-Arkansas League in 1936. He went to the Piedmont League the same year, to the Eastern League in 1938 and to the International League in 1939.

Barlick entered the National League at the age of 25 in 1940 when Klem was out of service with an injury. He has umpired in six World Series and five All-Star games.

Cards Acquire Low Burdette

Oliver, Sadowski Traded To Braves

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced early Sunday that they acquired Low Burdette, veteran pitcher, from the Milwaukee Braves in a trade completed just before the midnight deadline.

The Cards are sending catcher Gene Oliver and a minor league pitcher, Bob Sadowski, to Milwaukee for Burdette.

Oliver, 28, has been catching about one-third of the time with the Cards this season.

Sadowski, 25, was on the Cards' roster in spring training, and has been pitching for the Cardinals' farm club at Atlanta in the International League.

Phillies, Braves Split Twin Bill

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies erupted for three runs in the 11th inning of the nightcap Sunday, salvaged a split of a doubleheader with Milwaukee 7-4 and snapped the Braves' winning string at four. Milwaukee won the opener 5-3.

The Phillies battled back from a 4-2 deficit in the ninth when Don Demeter opened with a double. Jim Lemon beat out a slow grounder to third and pinch hitter Bob Oldis doubled them both home.

In the 11th, Ruben Amaro singled, moved to second on a ground out and scored what proved to be the winning run on Tony Taylor's single to center. Tony Gonzalez later drove in two insurance runs with a bases-loaded single.

In the opener the Braves erased a 3-0 deficit with one run in the sixth and four in the seventh off Cal McLish. Singles by Norm Larker, Joe Torre, pinch hitter Don Dillard, Lee Maye and Henry Aaron, the first four in succession, earned the decision for Frank Funk.

Mt. Savage workhorse Wayne Johnson won his own game in the bottom of the 15th inning yesterday with a sacrifice fly which gave the league-leading Old Germans a 4-3 triumph over Cumberland at Mt. Savage in the feature battle on yesterday's Pen-Mar League schedule.

In a battle for second place at Lonaconing, the Frostburg Merchants nipped the Coney Independents, 4-3, to up their record to 7-4. Hyndman moved out of the cellar, stopping host Barreille, 6-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Wellington Donahue.

The Old Germans whose victory was their ninth in 11 games, had to rally for a run in the bottom of the ninth to send the struggle into extra innings.

With one out in the ninth and Mt. Savage trailing, 3-2, Bobby Robertson walked and came home with the tying run on Rich Lybarger's two-base hit. Cumberland pitcher Johnny Price then retired Steve Faulkner on a ground out, and got Ted Femi to fly out.

Ten Scoreless Innings Johnson, a lefthander, hurled the entire 15th to gain his eighth win against one loss. He yielded one run to the visitors in the fourth and gave up two more in the fifth before reeling off a string of ten scoreless innings. The Hermans loaded the bases with none out in the 12th, but a double play wiped out that threat.

Eddie Parsons relieved Price in the tenth and gave up only three hits, but two of them were bunched in the 15th frame.

Faulkner led off the 15th with a double and moved to third on Femi's safety. Catcher Kenny Johnson was passed intentionally to load the bases. Wayne Johnson then lofted a fly to leftfield and Faulkner tagged up with the winning rally.

Mt. Savage pulled off its rally-killing double play in the 12th when Bobby Green grabbed Johnny Horwath's pop behind third base. Fred Schindler ended the inning by hitting into a force play.

The Old Germans had ten hits to Cumberland's seven, with Robertson, Lybarger and Fay Ott getting two apiece. Howard Reynolds had a triple and two singles for the Hermans.

Get 16 Strikeouts Price struck out 11 batters and Parsons fanned five to give the Cumberland pitchers a total of 16 strikeouts. Johnson whiffed a dozen and walked only two.

A long ball hitting contest was staged prior to the game, and was won by Mt. Savage slugger Bobby Robertson. Three players from each team competed.

Righthander Terry Turbin, who pitched Keyser High School into the semi-finals of the West Virginia high school tournament this season, made his first start for Frostburg yesterday and worked the first eight innings to pick up the win.

Turbin, who struck out five, yielded all of Lonaconing's runs in the bottom of the sixth John Thomas' two-run double was the big blow in that frame.

Frostburg scored one run in the third and added its other three in the fourth off Grover Fazenbaker, who was handed his second loss in six decisions.

A triple by Jime Rice scored two runs during the Merchants' fourth inning outburst. Rice also had a double, while Gary Keedy and Donnie Nave had two singles apiece. Thomas was the only Coney player with more than one hit.

Al Barlick Resigns As N.L. Umpire

Says He's Fed Up And Is Going Home

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Al Barlick, a protégé of the famed Bill Klem and with 24 years of experience as the National League's senior umpire, resigned suddenly Sunday in a telephone conversation with league secretary Fred Fleig.

League President Warren Giles announced Barlick's resignation and quoted him as saying: "I'm fed up with the whole thing and I'm going home."

"I have been unable to contact him," said Giles. "I hope that he'll change his mind because he is an excellent umpire and a fine person."

Recognized by many managers and players as one of the best umpires in National League history, Barlick started umpiring for $1 a game while a coal miner in Illinois. He entered pro umpiring ranks in the Northeast-Arkansas League in 1936. He went to the Piedmont League the same year, to the Eastern League in 1938 and to the International League in 1939.

Barlick entered the National League at the age of 25 in 1940 when Klem was out of service with an injury. He has umpired in six World Series and five All-Star games.

Dupas, Moyer Fight Tonight BALTIMORE (AP) — Champion Ralph Dupas and challenger Denny Moyer, a pair of young ring veterans, will be battling for boxing's newest world title Monday night in Baltimore's Civic Center.

On the line in the scheduled 15-rounder will be the championship of the junior middleweight division, the 154-pound class created last year by the World Boxing Association.

Dupas, the fancy boxer from New Orleans, took the title away from Moyer by winning a split decision in his Louisiana home town last April 29.

Moyer, from Portland, Ore., considered the results of the last fight something of a home town decision, and he will be out to regain the title he won by whipping Joey Giambra last October.

The championship fight will be the first staged in Baltimore since 1942, when Chalky Wright defeated Harry Jeffra for the featherweight crown.

Promoter Benny Trotta reported an advance sale of about $3,000 for tickets moderately priced from $2 to $7.50. The 13,000-seat civic center is expected to be less than half filled.

PROMOTION NEW YORK (UPI) — J. Walter Kennedy, new president of the National Basketball Association, was the league's publicity head when it was formed as the Basketball Association of America in 1946.

TOPPER LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, who is retiring from tournament tennis, is retiring from marriage, has been the top-ranked U.S. women's player the last three years and among the top 10 since 1954.

In the opener, the Angels hit four consecutive singles in the ninth with Torres starting the flurry. Charley Dees, Hank Foiles and Lee Thomas followed with three more singles, accounting for two runs. The third came in on Earl Battey's throwing error.

Giants Split, Retain Lead

Lose To Colts, 3-0, Grab Nightcap, 4-3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bill Pierce and Jim Duffalo put down a last ditch Houston rally Sunday to salvage a 4-3 San Francisco victory in the second game of the doubleheader and keep the Giants in first place in the National League. Houston won the opener 3-0.

Catcher Jim Campbell's two-run double in the sixth proved decisive in the first game before 40,499 in Candlestick Park as Don Nottebart and Jim Umbricht combined pitching talents for the shutout.

With the score tied 2-2, in the second game Larsen led off for the Giants in the seventh with a single, advanced on a walk by Chuck Hiller and scored on Harvey Kuenn's single.

After Willie McCovey walked down on strikes, both Willie McCovey and Haller walked to force in the Giants' fourth run.

The Colts loaded the bases the ninth on a bad-hop single walk and a bunt single off Irsen. Pierce came on and Rusty Staub to hit into a double play, with one run scoring. Then Duffalo walked Carl Warwick, but struck out Pete Runn to end the game.

Logan County. Lawrence W. Johnson, 27, was fatally injured when

The other deaths occurred Saturday. Manuel Carney, 36, was killed when his car wrecked on tally injured when a car in which he was riding wrecked on the West Virginia Turnpike near Princeton.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Southern California, led by Rex Cawley and Julian Marin, won its 22nd NCAA track and field title. Stanford finished second and defending champion Oregon third.

DETROIT — The Detroit Tigers traded pitcher Paul Foytack and outfielder-infielder Frank Kostro to the Los Angeles Angels for George Thomas, a third baseman-outfielder.

W.Va. Rd. Deaths Below Last Year

By United Press International
State Police said at least four highway deaths occurred in West Virginia over the weekend, boosting the state's road toll for the year to 157, or 21 less than at this time a year ago.

Two of the deaths occurred Sunday. Clifford Shelton, 50, was killed in a wreck on W. Va. 10 in Logan County. Lawrence W. Johnson, 27, was fatally injured when a car in which he was riding wrecked in Beckley.

The other deaths occurred Saturday. Manuel Carney, 36, was killed when his car wrecked on U. S. 22 in Brooke County. And Stephen A. Wysock, 52, was fatally injured when a car in which he was riding wrecked on the West Virginia Turnpike near Princeton.

Folk with a clear conscience are apt to snore when they sleep, according to a health columnist. Gosh, don't they feel just a little bit guilty at keeping other people awake?

Gov. Barron Urges W. Va. To Eliminate Lingering Pockets of Discrimination

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPD) Gov. W. W. Barron has urged West Virginians, in strongly-worded civil rights statement, to "act now to eliminate all lingering pockets of racial discrimination" in the state. The statement issued on the double 100th anniversary of West Virginia's statehood and the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation said:

"Today, 100 years after the birth of our state and the freeing of the slaves, the Negro is growing increasingly impatient because the slavery of the plantation was replaced by the slavery of segregation."

"Negroes across the nation are marching and picketing against the injustices which no white American would tolerate with the patience the Negro so far has shown."

Barron noted that during his administration, a state Human Rights Commission was formed and an executive order issued banning discrimination because of race, creed or color in the hiring of state employees.

West Virginia has a right to be proud of its "progress in desegregating schools, opening up places of public accommodation and in at least beginning to end job discrimination," he said.

But he said state residents should not become "complacent because of our state's progress."

"In this Centennial year, we know that thousands of visitors are coming to West Virginia. They include men, women and children of all colors. What would be their impression of our state if they were denied a meal when they were hungry, a room when they were tired?"

Barron noted that the Negro "wants only the same things that most other Americans have: an equal opportunity to realize his potential, to live as an American with the sense of dignity and security that is the promise of America."

One of the last "non-political" visits came in 1937 when President Franklin Roosevelt attended the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins.

Robert To Attend

Confirmation of the fact that the President and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, would be present for the ceremonies set the tempo for activity at the Statehouse.

Officials said they expect Secret Service officers to meet with state, county and local law enforcement agencies today to outline security measures.

Workers have started decorating with red, white and blue bunting the upper and lower windows of the statehouse. Two nearby state office buildings will have multi-colored flags over each entrance.

The governor's office was busy addressing, stamping and mailing invitations to dignitaries expected to attend the celebration on the capitol steps and arrangements were being made to accredit newsmen covering Kennedy's visit.

Prizes Awarded In Centennial Drama Contest

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Rose Ann Ellem of Parkersburg and William S. E. Coleman of Glenville have won first prizes in the West Virginia Centennial Folk Drama Contest.

Miss Ellem took top honors and a $400 prize in the three-act play division with an entry titled "The Visionaries." Second place and $100 went to Lloyd Davis of Morgantown for "A Happy Rural Seat."

Three prizes of $200, $100 and $50 were awarded in the one-act division. Coleman took first place with "A Ballad for John Hardy." Runners-up were Nancy Folk, Martinsburg, and John Lee, Parkersburg.

Winners were announced Saturday night at the premier performance of "East Yenne" aboard the Centennial showboat "Rhododendron" here.

The contest was conducted by the Centennial Folklore Committee headed by Dr. Patrick Gainer of West Virginia University, an authority on West Virginia folklore. Dramas were required to deal with the state's history, legend or folklore.

Honor Best W. Va. Truck Operators

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's top truck drivers, safest truck firms and driver-of-the-year honored at the state Motor Truck Association's annual awards dinner here Saturday.

The truck drivers were winners in the annual State Truck Roadster Saturday, a day-long test of driving skills.

Winners in the five divisions were Gene H. Huttenmiller and James D. Walker, Belle; Douglas C. Harry and William E. Lewis, Charleston; and Max J. Radaugh, Belvoir, Ohio.

Huttenmiller compiled the best score, 341 out of a possible 400, in the straight truck division. The other divisions were for various sizes of tractor-trailers.

The winners will be eligible to compete in the National Truck Roadster at Miami Beach in November.

Hospital Bond Issue Action To Be Urged

Full Support Is Voiced For Plan

The Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital today will ask the Mayor and Council to authorize a $500,000 bond issue to help finance the modernization program planned by the city-owned hospital.

The formal request will be presented during the regular meeting of the Mayor and Council today at 10 a. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Hospital representatives, headed by George B. Newman, board president, and John A. Moberly, superintendent, also will present a progress report on the project to improve hospital facilities.

In his letter requesting the meeting, Mr. Newman pointed out that the Mayor and Council has passed a motion to support the bond issue needed toward the financing of the project.

Voice Support

The request for aid will be made by hospital officials with the full support of many civic and labor leaders.

The proposal, said William L. Wilson, a member of the advisory board of Sacred Heart Hospital and president of the Queen City Brewing Company, "has the unanimous and enthusiastic support of the advisory board of Sacred Heart Hospital."

Josiah E. Mullenax, president of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, said the proposed addition "is not a question of need, it is a community 'must' due to the overcrowded conditions there and at Sacred Heart Hospital."

"Whatever it takes to accomplish this should be done immediately," said Charles E. Bramble, president of Teamsters Local 453.

Gives More Beds

Similar sentiments were voiced by other civic, labor and business leaders.

Mr. Newman today will explain how original plans to add a wing to the east wing parallel to Avondale Avenue were abandoned in favor of a plan which calls for the erection of a separate building which can be built in one year with no interruption of hospital services or loss of beds during construction.

The capacity of the hospital will be boosted from the present 232 beds to 312.

Architect's plans will be completed by June 30, when the board of governors desires to advertise for bids.

Architects have estimated the project will cost $2,305,000.

Hospital officials plan to take advantage of $1,252,500 available under the Accelerated Public Works program. To qualify, the hospital is required to have the work under contract this year.

Kenneth Sheets Heads IBEW Local 307

Kenneth Sheets has been elected president of Local 307, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers union, for a two-year term.

Other officers of the local, elected as the annual election held Friday in the Allegany Labor Temple, are:

Jacob Adams, vice president; Charles Lehman, recording secretary; Darrell D. Diehl, business agent and financial secretary, and Paul Cottom, treasurer.

Named to the Executive Board were Virgil Abe, William Crux, Charles Finkenbinder, Maurice Oberholzer and Harold Walters.

Elected to the Examining Board were Ralph Bowman, Joseph Kelley and Clifton Northcraft.

The biennial election was conducted by George Haller, John Mateo and Ronald Abe.

The newly elected officers will be installed July 12 at 8 p. m. at a meeting in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Heavy Truck Catches On Fire Briefly

The rear wheels of a large tractor-trailer caught fire on North Mechanic Street yesterday morning. Central firemen received the call at 10:34 a. m. and had the blaze completely out in a few minutes.

Overheating in the brakes of the heavy vehicle is believed to have caused the fire.

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, will launch a new 50-mile Swim and Stay Fit program at area pools in the near future.

The program is planned to encourage individuals to swim the required distance of 50 miles. It is not a marathon, an endurance contest, or competitive. Its goal is to better the physical fitness of the swimmer and to encourage regular and frequent swimming.

In view of the national emphasis being given to physical fitness the National Red Cross expanded its water safety program last year to include the Swim and Stay Fit program.

Earlier this year ten local persons began such a program and at the present time 30 swimmers are participating in the program ranging in ages from 14 to 52 years.

Any person possessing reasonable swimming ability is eligible to register for and participate in the program. Announcement will be made later of pools which will participate.

Swimming instruction is offered on a regular weekly schedule for Y members during the summer months. Classes for girls are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and for boys on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

A special "learn to swim" summer membership is available for children. It includes 30 days of instruction and practice beginning June 17. The fee may be applied to regular membership at the close of the program Labor Day.

Tadpole and frog swimming classes for 5, 6, and 7 year olds are offered during July and August. This instruction includes eight hours training and is held at 3 p. m. week days under the direction of Lynn Patchin, physical director.

A day camping program "Camp Echo" is located centrally at the YMCA building. Two days a week campers go to New Germany and Shawnee Park recreational areas.

Crafts, skill classes, movies, swim instruction, games and family party round out the program. Children age 8 and older may attend three sessions of two weeks each, June 17, July 8 and July 22. A special session for 6, 7 and 8 year olds is scheduled August 5-16. Bus transportation is provided for all sessions for children from the LaVale and Cresaptown areas.

Chaperoned recreational trips on the YMCA bus are scheduled to an amusement park, Oriole and Pirate baseball games, Civil War battleground, and a river boat ride in Washington and tour of industrial plants in Pittsburgh.

Information about the YMCA summer activities may be obtained by calling PA 4-5445.

$3.3 Million In 1962 Taxes Now Collected

Total 109.3% Of County Levy

Allegany County real estate and personal property tax collections in the 12-month period since June 1, 1962, reached $3,390,666.08 with May receipts of $1,008,101 in the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot at the Court House.

Although the May collections were the lowest in the 12-month period they were enough to send the 12-month yield to 109.3 per cent of the $3,103,350 anticipated by the county commissioners in the year when they set the tax levy back in April 1962.

The 12-month total is $218,634.83 below the collections of $3,609.08 in the corresponding period a year earlier. The difference is understandable because the 1962 rate was $1.85 whereas it stood at $2.10 a year earlier.

Only twice in the 12-month period were the 1962 tax collections higher than the 1961 total. These exceptions to the rule occurred in December and March.

The 1962 tax collections last month included $10,307.34 from real estate and $700.76 from corporations. Mr. Philpot's staff at the Court House also collected $9,067.77 in 1962 state taxes, $946.37 in real estate and personal property taxes and $8,121.40 from corporations.

Collections also were received in May for the four special taxing areas of the county. They included $40.85 for LaVale, $4.80 for Cresaptown, $1.54 for Potosi Park and $20.71 for Mt. Savage.

Another $550.39 received in May was in 1961 county taxes. Monthly totals from county taxes since last June with the 1961-62 figure listed first in each case:

June — $2,966,246.29 and $2,803,842.42; July — $139,699.05 and $118,915.56; August — $131,443.55 and $123,394.86; September — $83,488.30 and $69,660.81; October — $63,749.48 and $52,718.10; November — $51,380.79 and $45,345.86; December — $45,731.17 and $68,766.86; January — $40,739.13 and $36,885.01; February — $30,967.08 and $21,085.83; March — $23,246.96 and $24,035.60; April — $16,844.96 and $15,006.97; May — $15,794.15 and $11,008.10.

Heat Said Cause Of Illnesses

An excessive amount of heat and humidity were responsible for the attacks of illness that struck 15 girls at Columbia Street school May 28, Allegany County Health Department reports.

Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer, said that a public health nurse visited the family of each child involved and that answers to questionnaires indicated the most likely cause for the sudden illness was excessive heat and humidity.

Dr. Rothstein said that inspection of the school indicated no sanitary or mechanical difficulties to account for the illness.

No cases of similar illness have been observed or reported, the health officer said, and all children have completely recovered with no apparent ill effects.

The children were reportedly practicing for commencement when they were stricken.

Full Support Is Voiced For Plan

The Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital today will ask the Mayor and Council to authorize a $500,000 bond issue to help finance the modernization program planned by the city-owned hospital.

The formal request will be presented during the regular meeting of the Mayor and Council today at 10 a. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Hospital representatives, headed by George B. Newman, board president, and John A. Moberly, superintendent, will also present a progress report on the project to improve hospital facilities.

In his letter requesting the meeting, Mr. Newman pointed out that the Mayor and Council has passed a motion to support the bond issue needed toward the financing of the project.

Voice Support

The request for aid will be made by hospital officials with the full support of many civic and labor leaders.

The proposal, said William L. Wilson, a member of the advisory board of Sacred Heart Hospital and president of the Queen City Brewing Company, "has the unanimous and enthusiastic support of the advisory board of Sacred Heart Hospital."

Joshua E. Mullenax, president of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, said the proposed addition "is not a community need, but a community must" due to the overcrowded conditions there and at Sacred Heart Hospital.

"Whatever it takes to accomplish this should be done immediately," said Charles E. Bramble, president of Westmesters Local 453.

Gives More Beds

Similar sentiments were voiced by other civic, labor and business leaders.

Mr. Newman today will explain how original plans to add a wing to the east wing parallel to Avondale Avenue were abandoned in favor of a plan which calls for the erection of a separate building with no interruption of hospital services or loss of beds during construction.

The capacity of the hospital will be boosted from the present 252 beds to 312.

Architect's plans will be completed by June 30, when the board of governors desires to advertise for bids.

Architects have estimated the project will cost $2,305,000. Hospital officials plan to take advantage of $1,252,500 available under the Accelerated Public Works program. To qualify, the hospital is required to have the work under contract this year.

Theft Suspect Picked Up By Local Police

A local man, suspected of breaking and entering, was picked up by police early yesterday morning. After receiving a report at 12:50 a. m. of a prowler from Donald L. Buser, 421 Grand Avenue, Officer Harold Gibson apprehended Aiden Abe, 35, of 252 Elder Street.

Abe is expected to be charged this morning with breaking and entering the home of Paul F. Murray, 34 Virginia Avenue, on May 25 or 26. Several items, including a revolver, have been found in Abe's possession, police said.

After spotting a man in the 400 block of Grand Avenue, Officer Gibson chased him through several yards before apprehending Abe at the rear of 203 Fifth Street. During the chase Abe is reported to have discarded a revolver containing five bullets, which was later identified as the gun taken from 34 Virginia Avenue three weeks earlier.

Besides the revolver, a shoulder holster and a steel box containing several important papers and a small amount of money were found yesterday morning at Abe's home, where he has been living since April. These articles were reported stolen from the Murray home. Investigating detectives think entry was made through a back window which was pried open.

Abe was interrogated for four hours yesterday by Detective Kenneth W. Morrissey, and will be taken to the state's attorney's office this morning for further questioning.
